Ford, Carter win Illinois primary

CHICAGO (AP) — President Ford and Jimmy Carter were, as expected, the winners in the Illinois primary election. And for Carter, there was an added bonus in a surprising haul of delegates.

Ford fashioned a runaway victory over Ronald Reagan, his fifth triumph in as many primary outings over the conservative Republican challenger.

Carter, meanwhile, trounced George Wallace, Sargent Shriver and Fred Harris in the Democratic race, enhancing his frontrunner status and effectively driving Shriver from the contest.

There was another winner, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who was trying to restore his political clout in the race Illinois voters cared most about. Daley's candidate for governor, Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett, captured the Democratic nomination over incumbent Daniel Walker, a long-time political enemy of the mayor.

With 90 per cent of the vote counted in the preferential primary, or "beauty contest," Ford had 414,103 or 59 per cent to 281,013 or 40 per cent for Reagan. Perennial Illinois candidate Lar Daly got the remaining one per cent of the vote.

Among the Democrats, the tally with 91 per cent counted was:

Carter 560,977 or 48 per cent
Wallace 320,632 or 28 per cent
Shriver 189,587 or 16 per cent
Harris 90,562 or 8 per cent.

The race measures popularity but nets the winner no delegates.

The big surprise, in separate voting for delegates, was the bloc of 57 that Carter was winning with nearly half the voting counted. His camp had said getting just 25 would be a "massive achievement." Daley was winning 87 committed to Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, who is not a candidate.

Among the Republicans, with nearly half the votes counted, Ford had 64, Reagan 13 and 15 were uncommitted.

Those elected from the 24 congressional districts are not bound to vote for the candidates to whom they are committed, even on the first ballot.

The Democrats will send 169 delegates to the national convention, the Republicans 101.

Ford called his supporters after victory and declared, "That's a great victory and another real clincher in our effort to win the nomination."

Carter, whose delegate slates were successful in rural and suburban counties, said he "did not expect to win nearly this big."

The former Georgia governor, who now has won four primaries, said the battle for the Democratic nomination probably would wind up between himself and the man who defeated him in Massachusetts, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, with U.S. Rep.

Morris K. Udall possibly "hanging in." Jackson and Udall were not on the ballot in Illinois.

This was the arithmetic of Illinois, with 90 per cent of the 11,272 precincts counted:

Ford 414,103 or 59 per cent.
Reagan 281,013 or 40 per cent.

Lar Daly, the perennial Illinois candidate, 8,461 or one per cent.

That preference balloting did not commit nominating votes. They were awarded separately, with delegate candidates running in the 24 congressional districts.

With 54 per cent of the Republican delegate votes counted, candidates pledged to Ford led for 64 convention seats, Reagan for 12, uncommitted candidates for 16.

Among the Democrats, with 91 per cent counted, it went this way:

Carter 560,977 or 48 per cent.
Wallace 320,632 or 28 per cent.
Shriver 189,587 or 16 per cent.
Former Oklahoma Sen. Fred R. Harris 90,562 or 8 per cent.

In Democratic delegate races, with 49 per cent of the delegate votes counted, Daley's Stevenson slate led for 87 seats, Carter for 57, uncommitted candidates for 6, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for 4, Wallace for 7, Walker for 1.

Ford celebrated his victory in a speech telephoned to a Republican dinner in Grand Rapids, Mich.

"That's a great victory and another real clincher in our effort to win the nomination and to go on to victory on

City Council slated to convene tonight

Washington C. H. City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the city office building.

The regularly scheduled meeting for March 24 was moved up one week so that members of Council could accompany local Chamber of Commerce representatives to the Ohio Chamber of Commerce annual luncheon next Wednesday.

No legislation is expected to be presented at the meeting, and no formal agenda was prepared for the session.

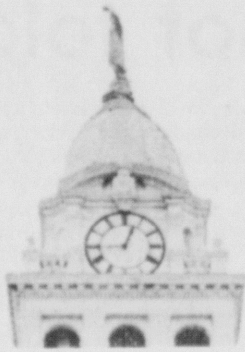

Council is expected to discuss the continuing saga of city finances. Increased costs have been projected in several departments, and the City Manager George Shapter estimates at deficit of approximately $33,000 despite curtailing of street lights, other service reductions already authorized, and increased revenue from imposition of the city income tax.

Council members will discuss what steps can be taken to reduce or overcome the deficit.

The city manager has also contacted the Dayton Power and Light Company concerning the reduction in street lights and is expected to inform Council of the action being taken to implement the cuts. It is likely that Council will also discuss further curtailment in the area of street lighting.

This meeting is expected to be the last to be held in the city office chamber. Renovation of the building interior to utilize additional office space will require that Council make other arrangements for a place to convene.

Two area bridges to be replaced

The Fayette County Commissioners have authorized engineer Charles P. Wagner to replace two area bridges at a cost of more than $40,000.

One bridge spans Camp Run county ditch along Jasper Coil Road, and the other crosses Lees Creek on the Barger Road.

Jasper Township bridge has a total cost estimate of $14,300. The itemized costs include $950 for removing the present structure, $1,250 for new concrete bearing walls on the present stone abutments, $600 to place a protection wall in front of each abutment; $600 to construct new guardrails, $300 for water proofing the new bridge surface, $10,100 for six prestressed concrete beams four feet wide and 35 feet long (erected in place), and $500 for incidentals.

The project is to be completed by the first of April. Total cost of the bridge on Barger Road in Greene

Township is estimated at $27,400. Itemized costs for the replacement included $1,200 to remove the old bridge, $1,500 for a new concrete bearing, $700 for protecting stone on the abutments, $900 for new guardrails, $1,400 to water proof the bridge and pave it, $21,100 to have four 61-foot beams erected, and $600 for incidentals.

Replacement is expected by the end of April. The Hare ditch hearing was held Monday afternoon. A preliminary report was given by the County Engineer's office. The commissioners requested that the engineer bring in the map, profiles and schedules on Monday, April 12, at 11:00 a.m.

A public hearing will be held Monday, March 22, at 11:30 in the Commissioner's office. The topic of discussion will be a petition filed by Ervin Dove which asks that two alleys in the village of New Martinsburg be vacated.

Preliminary hearing date set

Murder suspect makes first court appearance

The wife of the slain Fayette County man, who has been charged with aggravated murder, saw bond set at $100,000 during an initial appearance Tuesday in Washington C. H. Municipal Court.

Alice Maye Reed, 36, 7048 Stafford Rd., represented by Attorney John C. Bryan, appeared before Judge Robert L. Simpson on Tuesday afternoon. Her charge of aggravated murder, defined in the Ohio Revised Code as causing the death of another person with "prior calculation and design" may if proven, result in a penalty of death or life imprisonment.

Bryan requested a bond figure of $50,000 for Mrs. Reed, citing the fact that she has no prior criminal record, and is currently caring for three dependents. However, assistant Fayette County prosecuting attorney John H. Roszmann, stated that because of the seriousness of the crime, a $100,000 figure was not inappropriate. Judge Simpson set the $100,000 amount, and established 1 p.m. Friday as the date for the pre-trial hearing.

Mrs. Reed was charged Monday in Washington C. H. police officers in the beating and shooting death of Raymond

C. Reed, 42. The deceased had been living for some time at his brother Francis' home on 642 High Street. He was found dead Sunday in the bedroom of that house, after police officers had arrived to check an ill person report.

Lacerations on the back and side of the victim's head were found, in addition to gunshot wounds located in the stomach area. Pronounced dead at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, by deputy coroner Dr. Robert Heiny, the body was taken to a Cincinnati hospital for autopsy.

As the investigation continues, the High Street residence still remains sealed off by the police department, and agents from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification, London.

A life-long resident of Fayette County, Reed was a veteran of 20 years service in the U. S. Navy. He had been employed as a credit manager with the Barnhart Firestone Store, 304 E. Market St., for the past two and a half years.

Gun control law comes under fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill approved last week that would require gun dealers to check prospective buyers for possible criminal records will be reconsidered by the House, if one conservative lawmaker has his way.

Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, moved for reconsideration Tuesday of a bill he cosponsored when it passed the House 71-22. Batchelder said he feared it could have more far-reaching impact than originally intended, particularly with regard to civil liberties.

His motion was left pending. The effect was to stall any Senate action on the bill until the House either agrees to reconsider its vote or rejects the motion. That decision could come as early as Thursday.

State representatives approved 76-12 Tuesday legislation establishing licensing and regulation of occupational therapists.

Sponsor David Hartley, D-60 Springfield, said the bill was a response to complaints from the Ohio Occupational Therapy Association that some nursing homes were advertising therapists services when qualified practitioners were not on hand.

The bill would affect about 750 therapists who work with disabled persons seeking to regain physical skills through training and use of prosthetic devices, Hartley said. Occupational therapists concentrate on disabilities in the upper half of the human body.

Across the Statehouse, the Senate unanimously endorsed a bill that would authorize free tuition at state universities for children of police and firemen killed in the line of duty.

The firearms bill, temporarily in legislative limbo, would require a five-day "cooling off period" before a gun is sold. During that time a dealer could check a purchaser's record with the Bureau of Criminal Identification. Convicted felons would be denied sale.

Batchelder's concerns focus on the compilation of information by the Bureau of Criminal Identification in the attorney general's office and gun dealers.

He questioned whether merchants could use the law to check the records of someone other than a person wishing to buy a gun — a personal enemy for instance.

Leak probe to go worldwide

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the House Ethics Committee would settle for satirist Mark Russell's word on who leaked the leak that Daniel Schorr leaked, it could save the taxpayers $350,000 or more.

That's the amount being begged by Chairman John J. Flynt, D-Ga., to launch a hunt he says may go to "remote parts of the country or the world" to find the one man or woman who handed Schorr a secret congressional report on the CIA.

Russell, on the other hand, insists that CBS correspondent Schorr was a beneficiary of the "Leak Fairy," a sort of governmental gremlin who hides out in remote parts of Xerox machines.

And it is clear that some members of Congress are as skeptical about that answer as they are about the approach envisioned by Flynt, who took his funding plea before a House administration panel Tuesday.

"I'm appalled by a figure of $350,000 above what the committee is already allowed" for routine operations, said Rep. Mendel J. Davis, D-S.C., a administration committee member.

"We hope," drawled Flynt, "that this can be done for a fraction of what we are asking." But he added that "some have suggested we could spend $1 million ... we don't know whether this is going to take one day or from now until next Jan. 3."

Similarly, he said, "The first question of the first witness could conclude this investigation. But we anticipate that 300 to 400 persons could be called upon to answer questions or appear as witnesses."

Asked if the probe could finish by July 31, or before the national political conventions, Flynt replied: "We would hope so."

Flynt's panel has been ordered by the full House to make "findings and recommendations" about the

Coffee Break . .

ALL OLD FLOWERS and decorations must be removed from the graves in Sugar Creek Baptist and Sugar Creek Methodist cemeteries by April 1 for the annual cleanup. . . any old decorations left will be discarded as of this date, according to Alfred Lininger, caretaker.

"Nobody likes to think about colon-rectum cancer," Dr. Shaw stated, "but if more people would take simple preventive steps, they wouldn't have to worry about it."

Dr. Shaw continued, "We recommend that everyone over the age of 40 visit our clinic on May 2. The Stool Guaiac Test will be given and this is a quick and simple procedure which requires less than five minutes of your time for three consecutive days."

publication of the CIA report by the Village Voice, a New York weekly newspaper. Schorr, based in Washington, has acknowledged that the paper got the report from him, though he has declined to name his own source. CBS News has suspended him, pending the outcome of the probe.

Rep. John L. Burton, D-Calif., of the administration committee demanded to know why Flynt's request includes $120,000 in travel and per diem funds for investigators, since "everything that happened, happened in Washington and New York."

"We have been informed," said Flynt, "that there is information to be gathered on this matter from people far removed from Washington. They may be in remote parts of the country or the world."

"The world?" asked Burton.

"Absolutely," said Flynt.

That apparently struck Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., chairman of the panel, as a bit much. "Well if you go to Paris," he snapped, "try the ... (inaudible) Cafe. I recommend duck and the Chateau Lafite '59."

Burton then wanted to know if the entire issue couldn't be settled "if Mr. Schorr would come in and say I got the report from (former CIA Director William) Colby."

"Nothing would please the Ethics Committee more than for Mr. Schorr to say in answer to our first question where he got that information," said Flynt.

License tag losses rise

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — A spokesman in the Ohio attorney general's office says the state is attempting to recover about $146,000 in auto tag funds besides the $660,000 previously announced, the Elyria Chronicle-Telegram said today in a copyrighted story.

The newspaper said the largest of the newly revealed cases was the $35,412 sought from Cleveland Councilman Robert McCall in a suit filed by the state Tuesday in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

The suit indicated the shortage developed while McCall served as temporary auto tag registrar during 1973.

County recorder files re-election petitions

Fayette County Recorder Lorie M. Armbrust has filed petitions for re-election to office. Prior to her appointment to the office of Recorder in June 1965, Mrs. Armbrust, 53 of 6037 Snow Hill Road, taught in the Fayette County School District.

Her appointment in 1965 filled the vacancy created by the death of recorder Eloise Johnson. She was then elected to office in 1966 and re-elected in 1968 and 1972.

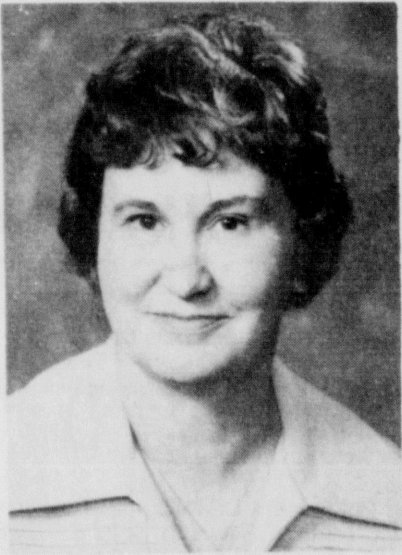

Mrs. Armbrust, a Republican, says that she enjoys serving the citizens of Fayette County as County Recorder. She attended Wilmington College, West Virginia Wesleyan University and office training school.

Quite active in several organizations, Mrs. Armbrust is the past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club, a member of the Fayette County Choral Society, Fayette County Republican Club and the Fayette County Republican Women's Club.

She was President of the Ohio Recorders' Association in 1974. Recorders' representative on the Ohio Committee of County Officials and served on the committee to up-date the Manual for Ohio Recorders.

Mrs. Armbrust, who is affiliated with the International Association of Clerks, Recorders, Election Officials and Treasurers, served as its Chairman of the Resolutions Committee in 1975.

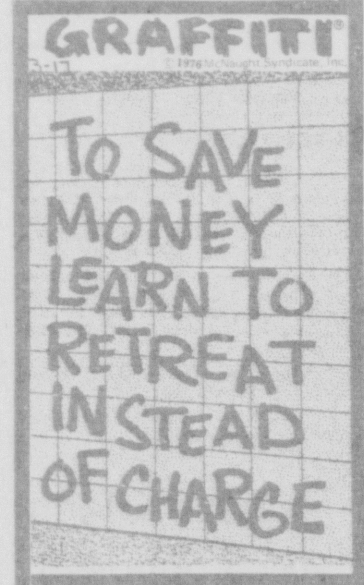

Married to Norman A. Armbrust, and the mother of three children, Mrs. David Ellen Kamiah, Idaho; Capt.

MRS. LORIE M. ARMBRUST

Gregory N. Armbrust, Wurtsmith AFB, Michigan, and Gary E. Armbrust, Washington C.H., Mrs. Armbrust said that being an elected official of county government and working in close association with those to whom she is accountable is rewarding.

Mrs. Armbrust added, "Fayette County, with its progressive city, neighboring villages and productive farms, is a county worthy of our pride. It is its citizens who have made it so. It is its citizens who must keep it so."

Ages 40 and up urged to attend

Cancer clinic scheduled for May

Dr. Byers Shaw, medical advisor for the Fayette County Unit of the American Cancer Society, announced that a colon-rectal cancer detection clinic will be held on May 2 at the Medical Arts Building, Willard Street, from 1:00 to 4:30.

"We will do away with the digital examination," Dr. Shaw said, "it proves little or nothing due to the fact that the participants will not have been on a special meat-free, roughage diet 24 hours prior to taking the first specimen," Dr. Shaw said.

Colon-rectal cancer, which will strike 99,000 Americans this year, occurs about equally in men and women. Colon-rectal cancer is usually found in the 40 to 54 age group with the risk rising with age. Nearly 24,000 men and women between the ages of 54 and 74, will be diagnosed with this form of cancer in 1976.

Cancer of the colon-rectum will claim 49,000 American lives in 1976, however, three out of four colon-rectal patients could be saved by early diagnosis and prompt treatment. When colon-rectum cancer is diagnosed in a localized stage, there is a 71 percent, five-year survival rate. When the cancer has gone beyond the colon or rectum the survival rate drops to 43 percent, an indication of the importance of early detection and prompt treatment.

The warning signals for colon-rectal cancer include symptoms of obstruction, constipation or perhaps diarrhea, gas pains, and rectal bleeding. Bloody stool is an important symptom and while it can also signify hemorrhoids, individuals should not attempt to self-diagnose.

Jobless pay proprieties

Much is heard about welfare cheating, foot stamp ripoffs, and other illicit feeding at the public trough. This comes to mind when considering reports that some big league professional baseball players are collecting unemployment compensation in the off season.

The practice cannot fairly be likened to the kind of illegalities cited above. The law seems to say that a ball player or anyone else temporarily out of work may register and collect unemployment pay.

Questions of propriety and regard for the general public welfare are raised, all the same. The salaries of baseball professionals range from not bad at all to absolutely sensational. Many taxpayers will take a sour view of such gentry taking jobless pay in periods when they're not actually drawing a paycheck.

THESE DAYS...By John Chamberlain Financing Social Security

Ronald Reagan, in an early stage of his campaign, invited the voters to have a look at Social Security. He suggested that there was something fishy about its funding, or the lack thereof. The money collected for it from corporations and employees was not invested in production, and there was no way for an individual to "contract out" of the government's program in favor of putting his savings into more substantial old-age annuities.

Well, from the response that this got from Gerald Ford Republicans, you'd think that Reagan had tossed a dead cat into a Holy of Holies. Speaking of the Reagan suggestion that Social Security funds should be profitably invested in productive industry, Ford accused his challenger of advocating a "back door to socialism." Reagan was pictured as a monster who would deprive the aged of their first-of-the-month checks.

None of this happened to be true. In the first place, Reagan had not specified that Social Security trust funds should be invested in voting stock that would give the Federal government control of industry. The money could be put into bonds, or handed over to administrators who would be prohibited by law from taking part in corporate decisions. Furthermore,

Reagan had specifically said that nobody should be deprived of payments already promised by the government. The idea of permitting individuals to "opt out" in favor of private insurance would not affect the general government Social Security program. The individual would still be under compulsion to maintain either a private or a public investment for his old age.

Since it had become apparent that the political primaries cannot be used for educational debates without exposing one's self to the most reprehensible kind of demagoguery, Reagan quickly dropped the subject of Social Security when he moved on from New Hampshire. This is a pity, for the truth is that our Social Security program is in a terrible mess. Even President Ford admits it.

"Simple arithmetic," he said in his State of the Union message, "warns us that the Social Security trust fund is headed for trouble. Unless we act soon to make sure the fund takes in as much as it pays out, there will be no security for old or young."

Ford's words were true as far as they went, but they disguised the plain fact that the so-called trust fund just ain't. What it consists of is government bonds that have not yet been sold to buyers. In short, they are simple I.O.U.s, dependent on future tax collections for their validation.

In his searching book, "The Biggest Con: How the Federal Government is Fleecing You," Irwin A. Schiff says that the unsold I.O.U.s held in the Social Security trust fund are reminders that the government's old-age "insurance" collections have already been spent on other projects. There is no legitimate reserve principle involved.

Schiff correctly observes that the only principle behind the government's policy is that of the "chain letter." Ponzi tried to work this trick as a private operator in the 1920s. When a private citizen does it, it's criminal. When the Federal government does it, it's okay.

Charles Hull Wolfe, the head of the American Economic Foundation, makes some points about Social Security that are similar to Schiff's. The fact is, says Wolfe, that the so-called trust funds will be exhausted by 1980. The current Social Security deficit is approximately three trillion dollars, which is more than five times our national debt. By indexing Social Security to inflation, Congress has fixed it so that workers in the 21st century will start retiring with benefits up to two-and-one-half times their final salary.

The Social Security collections, which do not go back into productive investment as private insurance premiums do, help drain the economy of money needed to buy the tools required to put unemployed people to work. Dr. Martin Feldstein of Harvard concludes that Social Security has reduced personal savings to about half of what they would otherwise be. The government's "chain letter" finance scheme has deprived the economy of $61 billion a year in investment funds.

It is too bad that Ronald Reagan felt he had to stop talking about what the late columnist John T. Flynn long ago describes as the "Social Security swindle." And it is too bad that Ford, who knows the system is in great trouble, refused to cooperate with Reagan in a rational discussion of the "trust fund's" deficiencies.

Whoever is elected President will have to deal with the situation - and get the federal government out of the Ponzi business.

Ohio Perspective

School insurance woes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Doctors' problems buying malpractice insurance have rubbed off on school board members, the Ohio School Boards Association says.

Board members' liability insurance rates are doubling in 1976 under an association program as the property-casualty line of the insurance industry comes off the worst year in its history, said David Martin, association executive vice president.

The increase for board members is blamed on two factors — two U.S. Supreme Court decisions last year which established students' right to due process of law and an increasing tendency of pupils, parents and teachers to go to court in disputes with school officials.

"The recent difficulties in the malpractice insurance arena, especially the medical field, have had an impact on the entire industry," said Jerry F. Gumbert, association research specialist. "Carriers are reluctant to assume the malpractice risk, and those that are willing to assume it insist on very restrictive coverage."

The association sought to extend coverage of the present policies but dropped the idea after only one carrier showed an interest and it insisted on "a substantially higher premium." Gumbert said the firm also refused to cover attorneys' fees. The policies still offer liability coverage of $100,000 per occurrence and $300,000 total per year.

The association first offered liability insurance to members in 1971. In that year, premiums outstripped losses 2½-1.

Three years later losses outran premiums $86,267 to $67,580. Last year, the insurance company faced $102,722 in losses while receiving $54,945 in premiums, the association said.

Up to this year, the premium remained $20 a year.

Martin said few of the claims were for judgments. "The great majority of the cost was for attorneys' fees," he said.

He added that claims from rural school districts have increased rapidly in recent months and are on par with metropolitan districts.

Hubby 'kids' expectant wife to think pink

DEAR ABBY: I am expecting my fourth child in May. My husband and I already have three boys, and of course we'd like to have a little girl this time because four is my limit.

My husband constantly tells me and everyone else he's seen that if I don't have a girl this time, he will "divorce" me (He's only kidding of course, but it hurts me to hear it just the same.)

He has gone out and bought a lot of pink baby clothes, and he's even ordered baby furniture in pink! On Valentine's Day he sent me a card, saying, "THINK PINK."

What should I give this expert needler for Father's Day in case I have another boy?

DEAR ABBY: Since we have returned from our Christmas vacation, I have needed to get something off my chest.

Every year my husband insists that we take our children to visit his parents over the holidays because they are so eager to see the grandchildren and they'd be "hurt" if we didn't. This involves a four-day automobile trip, which we make only once a year.

During the eight days we were there this year, the grandparents left our children four times to babysit for their daughter while she and her husband attended some holiday parties!

I didn't expect my husband's parents to stay home all the time we were there, but I did resent them spending so much time with their daughter, who live right in town and sees them the rest of the year.

Since I don't have the nerve to point this out to them, I hope you'll print this as a reminder to grandparents that when their children and grandchildren make such a special effort to visit them, they should limit their outside activities.

Thanks. It's very hard to discuss in-law problems with a husband.

FEELS BETTER

DEAR FEELS: Don't rely on the in-laws to see this and mend their ways. The solution to your problem can be found through some honest dialogue with your husband. You have a legitimate beef. Start talking.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a person who would accept a lovely, hand-crocheted gift and then enter it in a handicraft show as her own creation? She even removed my "especially handmade" label from it.

HURT AND FURIOUS

DEAR HURT: She can't be playing with a full deck. Let her know that YOU know of her shenanigans.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, March 17, the 77th day of 1976. There are 289 days left in the year. This is St. Patrick's Day.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, British troops evacuated Boston by ship during the Revolutionary War. They had been under American siege since the Battle of Bunker Hill seven months earlier.

On this date — In 1836, the Republic of Texas adopted a constitution.

In 1926, Brazil and Spain blocked Germany's admission to the League of Nations.

In 1938, during the Spanish Civil War, the loyalist-held city of Barcelona was bombed.

In 1941, the National Gallery of Art was opened in Washington.

In 1959, Tibet's Dalai Lama escaped to India during an uprising against the Chinese garrison in Tibet.

In 1970, charges were made against 22 American army officers and enlisted men in the slaying of civilians at My Lai in South Vietnam.

Ten years ago: A U.S. midget submarine located a hydrogen bomb which had fallen from an American bomber into the Mediterranean off Spain.

Five years ago: Israel's Premier Golda Meir declared that her country could not trust new U.S. plans for border guarantees in the Mideast.

One year ago: The South Vietnamese government decided to abandon the Central Highlands because the region had become militarily indefensible.

Today's birthdays: Civil rights leader Bayard Rustin is 66. Democratic Senator John Pastore of Rhode Island is 69.

Thought for today: There is nothing wrong with Ireland except that it is Irish, and there is nothing wrong with England except that it is not Irish — Bernard Shaw, Irish writer, 1856-1950.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, as the British were sailing from Boston, George Washington was preparing to move his army from Massachusetts to New York to defend that colony.

John Hay, 1838-1905, of Cleveland, Ohio, diplomat and author, served five presidents in one position or another. He went to Washington as secretary to Abraham Lincoln, and his greatest literary work was a biography of Lincoln, written with another man.

THURSDAY, MARCH 18

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Mixed influences. You may face some odd situations while traveling, or through communications. Obstacles, faced philosophically, could prove interesting as challenges.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Some advances indicated, especially in the fields of art, designing. New suggestions may be made to you. Appraise carefully, noting all factors.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

You have such a fine capacity for handling big problems, it would be a shame to let little annoyances "get you down." Stress your innate optimism.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Just "keeping busy" is no guarantee of success. The important thing now is to be selective in your undertakings and waste no time on unproductive ventures. KNOW your goals.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Look to revitalized ambition and lofty inspiration to help you put over most ideas and plans now. A good day, under generous solar influences.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Where the obvious means to progress are skimpy, YOU figure out preferable, more feasible ones. But have patience, be vigilant, precise. Watch trends.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Do not hesitate to advance an unusual idea IF you have given it proper thought. But do take into consideration the previous plans of associates - and possible opposition.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

"Retreat" is a word not usually found in your vocabulary, but it could be used strategically now to reinforce strength, improve tactics.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Procrastination in facing a "big" problem or undertaking will pile up complications. Bear this in mind and go about this day emphasizing your more practical and ingenious side.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

If you keep matters in line, you should be able to make some smart, progressive moves now. Look into others' ideas and tactics: you may be able to incorporate some in your own program.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A day in which it will be important to use your best judgment. If, on second thought, an idea or plan seems impractical, don't waste time trying to MAKE it workable.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Certain changes are in order, others are NOT. Don't buck the tide needlessly, nor penetrate too deeply into unknown waters before you have the know-how and the facts.

YOU BORN TODAY are intellectually inclined, positive in action and highly imaginative. You handle most things cleverly, have fine business acumen and, if drawn to the arts - especially writing and music - are truly creative and original. Your resourcefulness, competence in emergencies and pluck in overcoming obstacles are outstanding. Traits to curb: fear of what others think of your efforts, hypersensitivity, overindulgence in pleasures.

Tricycle amendment readied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives moved today to correct a 2-year old legislative blunder that banned kiddies' tricycles from sidewalks.

Up for a vote in the House was a measure, approved earlier by the Senate, that excludes tricycles from the definition of bicycles and thus permits their use on sidewalks unless prohibited by local ordinance.

Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville, introduced the measure after discovery by the Legislative Service Commission that the definition included tricycles when lawmakers adopted a uniform traffic safety code in 1974.

Authorities, mindful of the error, apparently haven't enforced the tricycle ban, sponsors said.

The House and Senate voted on mostly routine bills as they returned from weekend recess. Senators met Monday night for action on a handful of such bills, including one that allows hospitals to provide accommodations for visiting blind persons and their guide dogs. It was approved 26-0.

County school board schedules makeup day

The Fayette Board of Education set Monday June 7 as the final make-up day for classes in the school district at Tuesday's meeting.

The board had already established April 15 as a make-up day for time missed this winter because of icy weather. Most of the county's elementary schools will be required to hold classes on June 7, while the high school needs only the April 15 date as a make-up day.

The school district would have taken April 15 off as part of a three-day Easter vacation. The board did vote to allow an early dismissal of classes on that date.

The re-scheduling of classes apparently upset plans of several employees so classes will be dismissed an hour earlier.

The board also voted to accept detailed job descriptions of school district administrators. The job descriptions pertain to the superintendent, assistant superintendent, clerk-treasurer, supervisor of elementary education, high school principal and assistant high school principal positions.

Home economics teachers Nancy Davis, Nancy Meyers, Connie Evans and Joyce Bull attended the meeting and reviewed their department's teaching program with the school board. The teachers presented a slide show and discussed the needs of the department.

Enrollment has grown tremendously in the last few years in the high school's home economics program. The school now has the second highest Future Homemakers of America membership in the state. Each class was formed into a mini-chapter and membership has risen to 148 students. The high school has added two more teachers to the home economics staff in recent years to accommodate the increasing student interest, but the facilities — three rooms — remain the same. The four teachers agreed that more space was needed for the department.

In other board action - A contract to providing for 15 new typewriters for the high school with Tatman Typewriter Company was renewed;

Information about a junior high all-star basketball game scheduled for Tuesday was given;

A senior high school student was expelled;

A proposed school calendar for 1976-77 was reviewed; and Miles Chester, who is responsible for care of the high school grounds during the summer, had his contract was renewed.

DWI charge aired in court

A Jeffersonville man was found guilty of driving while intoxicated in Tuesday's Washington C.H. Municipal Court traffic session.

Lewis G. Christopher, 28, of Jeffersonville, was fined $250 by Judge Robert L. Simpson, and sentenced to three days in jail with credit for one day already served, and had his license suspended for 30 days.

SERVICE AWARD — Vernon Saxton, executive manager at Frisch's Big Boy Restaurant, was recently presented with a Big Boy diamond pin, for having served the company for 10 years. Saxton, who also observed his 33rd birthday, was presented with a cake, inscribed with "Happy Birthday."

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND (AP) — Snow flurries and subfreezing temperatures continued to plague Northern Ohio Wednesday night, with reports of scores of fender-bender traffic accidents on icy roads.

Problems from the four-inch snowfall were aggravated in the Cleveland area by a strike in the Cuyahoga County engineer's department that shut down road maintenance yards. Traffic was snarled on some major thoroughfares which remained unplowed and unsalted because of the strike.

Up to one foot of snow was reported unofficially in parts of Medina County, where Highland Local schools were ordered closed because of snowclogged roads.

Cleveland's Irish community called off its annual St. Patrick's Day parade today because of the bad weather and a forecast of a chill factor around zero. The parade was reset for 1 p.m. Sunday.

Lake County sheriff's deputies said road crews were spreading salt, but it was so cold the salt wasn't melting properly.

Fair Friday and Sunday and a chance of rain Saturday.

Snowy roads blamed in four mishaps

Icy roads were blamed in four of five accidents occurring in the county Tuesday.

Michael T. Miller, 16, of Mt. Sterling, was headed north on the White Oak Road when he lost control of his car near the Jones Road. The vehicle slid off the right side of the roadway at 4:40 p.m. Tuesday, and then travelled broadside across the road, landed in the left ditch, and damaged 12 rods of fence belonging to Freddie L. LeBeau of Mt. Sterling. There was moderate damage to the car.

A car driven by Anna M. Anderson, 29, of Millledgeville skidded on a snow covered portion of the Prairie Road, a half mile west of Harmony Road. The Anderson vehicle went off the right side of the road, damaging two rods of fence in the process. The 9:20 a.m. accident resulted in moderated damage to the car.

One rod of fence along the side of U.S. 62, one tenth of a mile north of Washington C.H., was damaged at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday when it was struck by a car driven by Alan S. Witherspoon, 17, of 606 Charlotte Court. While attempting to pass another vehicle, Witherspoon lost control of his car, and slid off the left side of the road, hitting the fence as a result. His car received slight damage.

As John F. Wright, 20, of Pittsburgh, was exiting from I-71 onto U.S. 35, his car skidded on the icy surface, went off the left side of the roadway and struck a guardrail at 7:40 p.m. Tuesday. There was moderate damage to the car.

A car driven by Betty J. Rhonemus, 38, of Rt. 2 Snow Hill Rd. backed into a parked car belonging to Loren L. Butcher, 33, of 57 County Manor Drive. The 9:15 p.m. Tuesday accident occurred in the Bowland parking lot in Union township, and resulted in slight damage to Butcher's car.

'It's a New Day' is theme of annual Blue Bird Potlatch

"It's a New Day" was the theme for the annual Paint Valley Camp Fire Council, Blue Bird Potlatch held Monday evening in the Mahan Building, for Blue Birds, leaders, assistant leaders, sponsors and members of their families. A red, white and blue theme prevailed in the decorations on the walls made by Mrs. Jack Ferguson. Bicentennial posters were on the walls. Bonnie Moore of the Chick-A-Dee Blue Bird group led the Camp Fire Pledge, and the invocation was done in the Indian sign language by the Ta Wan Ka Yu Stan Horizon Club and the Wi Fa Lo Ho Wedo Horizon Club, led by Mrs. Frank Sanderson. There were 300 present for the event.

Tables for the Potlatch were decorated by individual groups and placed. First-place winner was the Belle-Aire Princesses group, under the leadership of Mrs. Gary Anders. In the center of the table was a large rainbow, with wishing wells, flower pots for the mothers, and individual placemats representing large colorful tulips for spring.

Second-place winner was a table decorated with a 'Freedom Train' made by the Happy Blue Belles group under the direction of Mrs. Roger Boswell.

Third place winner was the table with miniature dolls in the patchwork costumes, with each of the girls' name and picture, made by the Sunshine Blue Birds group under the direction of Mrs. Carl Brady, leader. The judges were Mrs. Donald Wodd, Mrs. Fred James and Mrs. Allen O. McClung.

Following the meal, Paul Edgington, president of the Paint Valley Camp Fire Girls, Inc., introduced Board Members Mrs. Charles Harris, publicity; Mrs. Jack Ferguson, leader chairman; Mrs. Earl McDaniels, program chairman; Mrs. Frank Sanderson, group organizer; Mrs. Fred James, awards; Judge Robert Simpson, Do-Dad chairman; Gary Anders, Do-Dad co-chairman.

Mrs. Ferguson introduced all of the leaders, co-leaders and sponsors present.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by a Rock Group, "The Blue Mase" composed of Ross Emrick, Rod Stroup, Keith Elkins and Ray Emrick.

Auxiliary donates flags

Mrs. Ambers Conley conducted the Burnett-Ducey VFW Auxiliary, 4964, when nine members assembled in the VFW Hall recently. Mrs. William Pollard of Jeffersonville, a new member, will be inducted at a later date. Mrs. Esther Hyer gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Walter Wilson was pro-tem patriotic instructor.

It was reported that one member of the Auxiliary and four of the Post members attended the District meeting held on Sunday in Lancaster, with Chief Tarhe Post 1380 as host. Those attending were the Rev. and Mrs. Cloyce Copley, Commander Kenneth Harley and Chester Hamulak.

A donation was made for a dinner and dance in April for patients at the VA Hospital, Chillicothe. It was announced that Mrs. Mabel Whitmer requested an outdoor American flag for Memorial Hospital, and that a larger American flag had been purchased for Miami Trace High School.

Members of the Post will be hosts for the April 19 meeting in the VFW Hall when the Voice of Democracy awards and program will be presented at 7 p.m.

On April 5, nominations for the election of officers of the Auxiliary will take place, and beginning at 10 a.m. on April 10 is clean-up day at the VFW Hall, W. Elm St., to prepare for the local Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association.

Mrs. Copley and Mrs. Conley served refreshments. Mrs. Kenneth Harley was winner of a prize, and the meeting was closed according to the Ritual.

'Churches' circle topic

Mrs. Frank Dill, program chairman, gave a reading, "The Church" for the presentation of the program by Mrs. Doris Diffendal when Circle 10 of Grace United Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Dwight Morner Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Diffendal's presentation of slides showing churches in Fayette County and area churches and some in Canada, was very interesting and educational to the 21 members and three guests present.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Sam Wilson, circle leader, who read the poem "Love." The reports were made, and Miss Marian Moore reported on 'Church Day' activities.

Devotions taken from the Book of Jeremiah were made by Mrs. Glen Merritt, who also read from the book, "Israel and Ancient World," which was the history which led to the time of Abraham to the time of Christ's birth.

Mrs. George Lundberg will be hostess for the April 19 meeting.

Assisting hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Donald Moore, Mrs. Steve Kirk, Mrs. Robert Moore and Mrs. Blanche Johnston.

Class study is 'Hosea'

The Kings Daughters Class of First Christian Church met in the home of Miss Margaret Gibson, with Mrs. Walter Parsley as co-hostess and devotions leader. She read part of Psalm 96, and a very interesting history of the hymn, "Church in the Wildwood."

The lesson study of "Hosea" was presented by Mrs. Naomi Helm. Reports were read and approved. It was decided to give to the Fayette County Children's Home in September. The 'bakeless' sale begins now and ends in June, and cards are being sent to the ill. An Easter flower will be purchased for the church.

Robes for the Sunlight Chorus were discussed, but tabled until later. Refreshments were served by the hostesses with a St. Patrick Day theme.

Senior Nutrition group goes bowling

Senior Nutrition participants enjoyed their third outing Tuesday afternoon when they went bowling under the sponsorship of the Men's and Women's Bowling Association and Bowland.

This week, high scorer and trophy winner was Mrs. Hazel Coder. Two weeks ago the trophy winner was Floyd Dowler.

Recipe of the week

SAUCY ASPARAGUS WITH NEW POTATOES

6-8 new red rose potatoes
1½ pounds fresh asparagus squeeze of fresh garlic

Mornay Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups milk
½ cup grated Gruyere cheese or Swiss cheese

Scrub potatoes. Peel a small band around the center. Cook potatoes in boiling salted water about 20 minutes or until tender. Drain. Wash asparagus thoroughly. Bend stalk and snap off the tough end. Cut the stalks in long diagonal slices but leave the tips whole. Cook asparagus, covered, in small amount of boiling water with a sprinkle of garlic for about 5 minutes. Drain. Make sauce by melting butter over low heat and stir in the flour, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Add milk. Stir constantly until sauce is bubbling. Add cheese and stir. Makes 1½ cups. Combine cooked potatoes and asparagus in a serving bowl and pour sauce over the top. Makes 5-6 servings.

COLCANNON SOUP—patterned after the famous Irish dish is a great way to celebrate St. Patrick's Day. Serve corned beef sandwiches to complete a good meal in honor of the saint.

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day with Irish colcannon soup

March is the month of St. Patrick's Day, a fine time to celebrate with the traditional Irish foods — potatoes, cabbage, corned beef — served in a different way.

Put the potatoes and cabbage together in a great, creamy soup modeled on the famous Irish dish called Colcannon. With this fabulous soup, serve hearty corned beef sandwiches and you'll have a delicious St. Patrick's Day meal that is a change from the standard corned beef and cabbage dinner.

The original Colcannon, as every daughter and son of Erin knows, is a vegetable combination of mashed potatoes and cabbage. This idea is embodied in Colcannon Soup. The soup's base is chicken broth smoothed with cooked potatoes in an electric blender, and enriched with light cream. Coarsely chopped cabbage and diced potatoes are cooked in the savory broth for hearty texture and authentic flavor. To give just the right contrast, Tabasco pepper sauce is used. It lends a lift to this mellow soup that really makes the dish. But the amount recommended is

Good Hope Women meet

The Good Hope United Methodist Women met in the home of Mrs. Lowell Woods. Roll call was responded to by naming a book of the Bible. Mrs. Robert Hoppes presented devotions, and it was voted to give a stand and Bible to a patient in a nursing home. It was also voted to send a petition to the General Conference opposing the change in discipline. Reports were made by those making visits to the nursing homes the past month. New hymns for the church will be purchased.

A bake sale and bazaar was discussed with the decision to have both with the auction planned for April 10. A lunch will also be served.

A self-denial offering was collected and the program on "Prayer" was prepared by Bill Sexten and presented by Mrs. Steve Johnson.

The hostess served refreshments to Lynn Bowdle, Mrs. Don Bowdle, Mrs. Pearl Breakfield, Mrs. William Dunn, Miss Elda Fenner, Mrs. Hoppes, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Garry Keaton, Mrs. Louise Null, Mrs. Lee Reisinger, Linda Reisinger, Mrs. Earl Russell, Mrs. Home Peters, Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. William VanDyke.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Next month, an unlikely arena for the works of William Shakespeare — "CBS Radio Mystery Theater" — will celebrate the bard's 412th birthday with adaptations of seven of his best-known plays.

They'll be aired from April 19 through April 25 on more than 200 stations, but you won't find them listed under their original titles.

The leadoff show is "Murder Most Foul," which in its day was called "Macbeth." "Julius Caesar" will be known as "The Assassination." "Hamlet" will be "Long Live the King Is Dead" and so on.

While the original plot lines will remain intact, considerable compression of same has been done to fit each show to the radio series' 53-minute time limit. Parts of the dialogue will be rewritten to make Shakespeare's words more understandable to those with only a nodding acquaintance with his works.

The man doing the adaptations and risking the wrath of Shakespeare purists is Ian Martin, 63, a Scotland-born, New York-raised veteran of more than 40 years of acting and writing for radio.

He said he came up with the idea of adapting the Shakespeare plays while pondering the fact that while most people study them in high school, few ever understand them because of the rich poetry, imagery and all that.

"It suddenly occurred to me that the tragedies — and we're doing six of them — are all as full of mystery and mayhem and they certainly fit our programs as stories," he said.

Not many who struggled through Shakespeare remember "he was a magnificent story teller," he added. "So I thought we could bring the stories to the people as a kind of reintroduction to Shakespeare."

He said he retitled the plays he selected because they only are adaptations and he didn't want to mislead anyone.

"On the other hand, every familiar quote is in there," he said. "Maybe they won't be the exact words — and the scholars might jump at this — but basically it's all there."

Martin conceded that Shakespeare buffs may accuse him of bastardizing the bard, but "I think that'll come from very short-sighted people. I've already had that from one actor who said, 'Single-handedly, you've ruined Shakespeare.' Now this is ludicrous."

He said the plays he selected "are very good stories and should be heard. But I think that while Shakespeare is entitled to the profoundest respect, he's also entitled to be understood."

Strong religious habits marked early Ohio settlers

By The Associated Press

In the early 1800's Ohio was populated by families of strong religious habits, many from Europe where they often felt oppressed. It was natural that there should spring up little colonies of persons who lived together under rules drawn from their beliefs.

In Guernsey County there were the Dylksites, followers of Joseph Dylks who conducted a camp meeting on Leatherwood Creek until his claims brought charges of fraud. In Clermont County a group called Utopians was broken up. On Turtle Creek in Warren County and in parts of Adams and Montgomery Counties were settlements of Shakers, so called from their claims that they "danced in the joy of the Lord."

There were others, but perhaps the most famous colony and one of the most successful, was one of Zorites, centering around the town of Zoar in Tuscarawas County. To this place in 1817-18 came a group of Separatists from southern Germany to enjoy religious freedom on the 5,600 acres they had purchased. They were simple people — farmers, weavers, carpenters, bakers — and at first they tried to live in the customary way of individual families. But among their 250 members were a number of old and enfeebled persons needing care and this led, in 1819, to the formation of a communal corporation chartered in 1832 as the Separatist Society of Zoar.

The Zoar experiment prospered for 80 years.

Patty's father set to give testimony

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With her father among the final witnesses, Patricia Hearst's trial for bank robbery appears all but assured of reaching the jury by week's end.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter hinted Tuesday that he would reject efforts by either U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. or defense counsel F. Lee Bailey to carry testimony beyond today.

"You've both had two chances now and that's it," Carter said, referring to each side's main case and rebuttal presentations.

Bailey told the judge he had "one more witness for sure" and indicated outside court that it was the defendant's mother, Catherine Hearst. Her father, San Francisco Examiner President Randolph A. Hearst, testified Tuesday.

Browning suggested in court that he would seek to reopen the government's case to answer the defense's latest testimony.

"I will rule preliminarily on that right now," Carter replied, "and the answer is no." The trial is now in its eighth week.

Carter has set aside one full day for closing arguments and that could come Thursday, followed by the judge's instructions to the jury.

Carter has told the jurors, who have been sequestered since Feb. 4, that they should "deliberate through the weekend," if necessary.

Bailey spent most of Tuesday attempting to discredit two psychiatric experts who testified for the government.

Dr. Joel Fort of San Francisco and Dr. Harry Kozol of Boston each said Miss Hearst, 22, was a willing convert to terrorism when she and her Symphonies Liberation Army kidnappers robbed a bank on April 15, 1974.

She herself has testified she was still a hostage and that her captors ordered her to participate or be killed.

In a surprise move, Bailey also called Miss Hearst' longtime friend, Patricia Tobin, who described her chum from schooldays as "not the same person" when she was captured last Sept. 18.

Mrs. Louise Rodgers named to hospital board presidency

The Fayette Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees elected new officers Monday, and Mrs. Louise Rodgers was named to succeed Milbourne L. Flee as president.

Active in civic and political affairs, Mrs. Rodgers has served on the board since 1972. She is one of three Democrats on the six-member board. She and other trustees are appointed by the Fayette County Commissioners, the common pleas judge and the probate judge.

The function of the hospital board is anesthesiologist and will fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Dr. Marvin H. Roszmann. Dr. Roszmann will continue his private practice.

The monthly statistical report showed 351 admissions for 2,130 inpatient days. There was an average of 73.44 persons in the hospital daily.

Occupancy stood at 84.10 per cent capacity in the hospital and at 92.31 per cent in the medical and surgical division. The average length of stay per person was 6.22 days, with an average of 6.81 days in the medical and surgical division.

The hospital took 1,371 x-rays, performed 6,603 laboratory tests, rendered 617 physical therapies and 435 inhalation treatments.

There were 1,296 persons treated in the emergency room.

In all, there were 72 major surgeries performed and 74 minor surgeries.

The actual hospital revenue per patient-day this year has been $106.08. The budget estimated $11.82, and the national average is $157.50, Kunz said.

The actual expenses to date have averaged $118.01 while the budget called for $125.12. The national average is $154.

The total expense per admission to date has been $731.12. The budget estimated $782.67, and the national average is $1,191. Kunz noted that the national average per hospital stay had reached the $1,000 mark for the first time in history.

Dr. Wong announces new office associate

Kwok Kuen Wong, M.D. has announced the association of Sheeng-Wu Lin, M.D. in the practice of obstetrics and gynecology. Dr. Lin, who practiced in Hillsboro for 18 months prior to his move to Washington C. H., is originally from Taiwan, where he attended medical school.

Dr. Lin did his internship at Mount Carmel Hospital in Detroit and did his specialty training at Mount Sinai Hospital in Cleveland.

Lin, who has lived in the United States for more than 7 years, is married to the former Susan Kay Reutter, a registered nurse, formerly of Strongsville, and they have one child. Dr. Lin has hospital privileges at both Fayette County Memorial and Highland District hospitals.

Rotary sneaks play preview

The Washington C.H. Rotary Club was given a sneak preview of the Miami Trace High School production of "South Pacific" at Tuesday's club meeting at the Washington Country Club.

John Gruber was in charge of this week's program at the meeting as Richard Glass presented members of the cast, who performed several numbers from the upcoming production.

Lynne Acton and Bud Mountcastle each sang solo numbers from the musical. The men's chorus sang "Nothing Like a Dame" followed by John Schlichter and Denise Beoddy, leads in the musical, singing a duet of "Some Enchanted Evening." Sandra Delay accompanied the students on the piano.

Guests at the Rotary meeting were Kevin Pfeifer, Washington Senior High School student; Bob Sacher, new plant manager at Calmar; Susan Link of Ohio Bell; Barbara Tolle of Columbus and visiting Rotarians Art Dick of London, Will Harple of Egg Harbor City, N.J., Roger Wilder and Lynn Rainsberger of Mount Sterling, and Everett Royer and Darrell French of Wilmington.

The Florida Everglade kite has become an endangered species because of its eating habits, the National Wildlife Federation says. The dark-colored bird eats almost nothing but the freshwater apple snail, which has become scarce due to drought, fire and drainage of marshes for agricultural and residential development.

to oversee the operation of the hospital and approve all expenditures.

Other officers elected were Denzil Leggett, first vice president; Dr. T. J. Hancock, second vice president; and Taylor Groff, secretary treasurer. Rounding out the board are Flee and Jessie Persinger.

Several items were discussed Monday, including Wilbur Welton nursing scholarships. The board considers candidates for nursing scholarships each year which provide two area residents with books and tuition up to $2,000.

One scholarship is for the Fayette Memorial Hospital School of Practical Nursing and the other is for any certified school of registered nursing, providing the recipient agrees to work for the local hospital for a period after graduation.

Hospital administrator Robert L. Kunz is now accepting applications and can be contacted at the hospital for details.

The board approved an expenditure of up to $6,900 for installation of oxygen and suction equipment in seven hospital rooms, and $4,590 in laboratory equipment.

Dr. L. G. Ranpura was granted active hospital staff status. He is an

Reds' Gordy Coleman addresses Lions Club

Gordy Coleman, former player for the Cincinnati Reds and now a member of the Reds speakers bureau, was a guest at the Washington C.H. Lions Club meeting Tuesday night.

"This is a very trying time now in view of the player-owner negotiations in progress," Coleman said. "The demands from Marvin Miller, player representative and former steel negotiator, are unrealistic." Coleman continued saying that he felt the American baseball fan would be further hurt. "And that's in the pocket-book."

According to Coleman, the spiraling costs for the development of new baseball players along with the high salaries demanded by established players, makes it extremely difficult for owners to make any improvements or earn money.

"Last year it cost the Cincinnati Reds $2.5 million for their farm system alone, and it takes approximately $500,000 to $750,000 to produce a player ready for major league play," Said Coleman, adding that only four out of every 100 players makes it to the big leagues.

Coleman who cited last year's World Series as being one of the most thrilling in history, said that each member of the Reds received an additional $19,000 after the series win.

"The Reds ball club is a pretty good club to work for considering that since 1970 each player has earned an additional $56,000," Coleman stated.

Concluding his talk, Coleman said that the four members of the Cincinnati club who have not signed contracts thus far are Don Gullet, Will McEnaney, Tony Perez and David Concepcion.

Other business of the evening included the announcement that the Lions Club may well clear approximately $2,700 from their recent variety show with the proceeds going to the welfare and sight saving fund.

The group was informed that the state convention would be held on May 21, 22 and 23 in Columbus, Ohio, and at the next meeting the program would be on the Pilot Dogs from Columbus.

A nominating committee proposed the following club members for various club offices: President, Jessie Persinger, 1st Vice President, George Naylor; 2nd Vice President, Jim Polk; 3rd Vice President, Ben Roby and Wiley Witherspoon, Secretary, Mike Flynn; Asst. Secretary, David Boswell and Patrick Riley; Treasurer, Richard Stinson; Asst. Treasurer, Charles Tye and Allen Willoughby; Tail Twister, Ralph Hyer and S.E. Vaughn; Lion Tamer, Maynard Joseph and Ronald Walker; Directors (two to be elected), Chester Dean, Carman Frogale, Jim Polson and Joseph White.

The annual election will be held at the April 13 meeting.

Guests for the evening were Scott Douglas, Langdon McCoy, Clyde Cramer, Jerry Wackman, George Smith, Fred Blocher, Past District Governor, Donald Moore and Gary Anders. Two new members Charles Wehner and Fred Reading, were introduced.

Plans set for annual Kiwanis talent show

The Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club finalized plans for its annual Teen Talent Show at Monday's monthly board of directors meeting.

This year's show is scheduled for April 10 and auditions will be held March 28. A practice date was scheduled for April 4. Plans for advertising and ticket sales were also completed.

The board reviewed a request from Washington C.H. Jaycees concerning plans for the July 4 Bicentennial parade. The request was tabled until additional information could be obtained.

Richard Killian, executive vice president of the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce, was unanimously voted into the club as an honorary member. Killian is a past president of the local Kiwanis Club. The club voted on the honorary membership in respect for Killian's contributions to the club.

On hand at Monday's meeting were Miami Trace Key Club students Kurt Brown and Jeff Crabtree.

Downturn in lambs continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers and feed lot operators appear to be boosting production of beef cattle and hogs but the long-time decline in lamb production is continuing, according to the agriculture department.

As of March 1 there were 611,000 sheep and lambs on feed in the seven major producing states, down 14 per cent from the inventory being readied for the slaughter market a year earlier and 32 per cent below the March 1, 1974 mark, the department said Tuesday.

Officials said the March 1 inventory was the lowest since records started in 1960. Sheep production has been declining steadily in recent years, partly because of predator effects and because producers have shifted to other lines of production.

Consumer group urges constitutional change

Citizens for Utility Rate Equality (CURE) has opened a drive to amend the Ohio Constitution to require that all public utilities in the state use an original cost formula on which to base their customer rates, state auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said.

"This is a totally non-partisan citizens' effort to eliminate the outmoded and unfair Reconstruction Cost New (RCN) formula the utilities now use, and replace it with one using original cost as the rate basis," he said.

CURE came into being last month when it appeared the General Assembly was bogged down with details, and under heavy pressure from utility lobbyists, over utility rate setting legislation, Ferguson added.

"The legislation, now in a House subcommittee, has been rewritten and rewritten to such an extent that nobody really knows what it proposed to do," he added. "However, we do know it will not benefit the residential utility customers, if history is any judge."

CURE hopes to amass a half million signatures of concerned utility users across the state of Ohio to force the proposed RCN repeal amendment onto the November election ballot.

"Actually, only about 308,000 signatures are needed," Ferguson, a founding member and spokesman for CURE, said, "but we are shooting for 500,000 signatures. That way there will be no doubt about having sufficient valid names, nor any doubt as to the concerns of Ohioans over constantly increasing monthly utility bills."

He added, "What we want to see in Ohio is a change from the current Reconstruction Cost New, Less Depreciation formula (RCNLD) to an original cost basis upon which to project the rates utilities can charge their customers."

"We do not know for certain that an original cost formula would result in a reduction in monthly rates, although we hope it will; however, we do know that it will stop or considerably slow down the constantly increasing rates that we have witnessed in recent months."

The CURE amendment also would require the Ohio Utilities Commission to take into consideration when fixing rates "customer complaints, level of service and management policies and practices," Ferguson said. "The utilities commission would be empowered to order service improved and utility operations brought up to an adequate, efficient and proper level."

CURE leaders say they plan to actively push the amendment petitions in all 88 counties. "We plan to have a wholly volunteer CURE operation in every county and we call upon all Ohioans to assist in the effort," Ferguson concluded.

Less than half of issues win

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Forty-three per cent of the issues before voters in Ohio school districts since the last general election have been approved, the Department of Education said Tuesday.

The 21 issues before the voters have included 11 new operating levies, six bond issues, one operating levy renewal, two capital improvements levies and one combination new and renewal operating levy.

Between November 1974 and June 1975, 30 per cent of the issues in special school elections passed.

CIVIL SUIT

Hurstel Robinson of Hillsboro has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Paul R. Yinger of Hillsboro. The plaintiff claims that Yinger owes $2,915 for materials and labor furnished through Robinson's Saw Mill, Hillsboro, and seeks judgment in that amount.

MALPRACTICE SUIT

Robert Deakne of Springfield has filed suit against Fayette Memorial Hospital, emergency room staff member Dr. Gary Meade, radiologist, Dr. Douglas Morris and MEF Inc., of Bellefontaine, the firm with which the hospital contracts for emergency room medical coverage. The plaintiff states that he was admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital April 12, 1975 following a motorcycle accident and was treated by Dr. Meade. Dr. Morris reportedly read x-rays taken of the plaintiff. The plaintiff further states that he was admitted to a Springfield hospital on May 2, 1975 for treatment of a broken foot which had not been diagnosed by the hospital here. He states that he suffered hospital expense in the amount of $594 as well as great pain during the interim. Deakne is seeking $200,000 in damages.

She contends that a nervous condition is directly related to the injury and seeks to have the commission's finding overturned.

Black caucus takes hint from Wallace

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National Black Political Assembly has taken a lesson from a candidate at the other end of the political spectrum.

"George Wallace has never won the White House, but he has never lost an election," said Ron Daniels, national chairman of the organization which begins its convention today.

"His presence and importance is evidenced by the drift to the right of both national political parties."

The National Black Political Assembly will be attempting to do on the left what the Alabama governor has done on the right when between 3,500-4,000 persons gather for its convention which runs through Sunday.

"We can take heart from the success that other independent groups have had in the past," said Daniels. "They may not have won, but they have brought about significant changes."

Who will spearhead the effort to build a political powerbase remains in doubt since Georgia state legislator Julian Bond decided not to accept a nomination to run for president on an independent ticket.

While Bond, who attracted national attention when he was named as a possible Democratic candidate for vice-president, may still attend the convention, Daniels said "matters other than the expressed political direction of the NBA would be central to his (Bond's) understanding and performance during the course of the next year."

Woody announces new crop of high school grid recruits

COLUMBUS — One of the best classes in Ohio State football history has just bowed out, but Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes thinks he has come up with a worthy successor.

Hayes, who has completed 25 years with the Buckeyes and is the fourth winningest coach in college history, will lose 11 regulars from last year's team which finished with an 11-1 record and captured a fourth straight Big Ten title.

To offset that loss of talent, which includes three first-team All-Americans, the veteran coach has signed 27 of the nation's top high school and junior college standouts to letters-of-intent for the coming year.

It's the largest number the Buckeyes have taken since 1967 and some experts are predicting that this class may be on a par with that fabled '67 group, which went on to win 27 of 29 games and boasted such standouts as Rex Kern, Leo Hayden, Jack Tatum, John Brockington, Jan White and Jim Stillwagon.

Hayes, the mastermind of the Buckeyes' recruiting program, won't make a comparison, but he will admit that his collection of athletes has outstanding potential.

"It is certainly a class that would rank as way above average," he conceded. "We feel that we have a number of great athletes in this group and that they will become great college football players."

Hayes added that the Buckeye staff concentrated heavily on running backs in an effort to overcome the loss of two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin and versatile wingback Brian Baschnagel.

"We knew we had lost some great backs so we recruited with the idea of finding other great ones," said the 1975 College Coach of the Year. "We think we did just that. There are some exceptional backs in this class."

The list of signees is comprised of 14 Ohio prep players, two from Virginia, California and Georgia and one each from New York, Kentucky, West Virginia, Michigan, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Two of the recruits are transfers. Ron Springs, a tailback, one of the most sought after players in the country, played at Coffeyville Junior College last year, and Paul Ross, a fullback-linebacker candidate, transferred to Ohio State from the University of Georgia.

Talley, who set a season scoring record in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics this season with 1,347 points, won the honor in a landslide vote by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

Stolz resigns grid post

MSU sports shakeup widens

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Denny Stolz resigned as head football coach at Michigan State on Tuesday, the most recent and highest ranking victim of the investigation of MSU's football program.

Stolz, head coach for three years, was asked to resign last weekend by university President Clifton Wharton after Wharton met with the school's board of trustees. The resignation of former athletic director Burt Smith has also been requested.

Unlike Stolz, Smith has tenure at the university and school officials are negotiating with him "equitable arrangements leading to his termination or retirement," Wharton said.

Wharton said the decision to ask Stolz, 42, to resign was the result of new findings of a special university committee investigating the football program. The NCAA has placed MSU on three years probation after determining 34 violations, mostly in recruiting.

Wharton would not reveal what the committee found, however, and Stolz indicated he didn't know either. But Wharton said the information is being shared with the Big Ten, which is also probing the matter.

Smith's attorney said Monday Wharton indicated he felt Smith had withheld information from the special committee. Smith, 58, has been coordinator of special projects since he was ousted as athletic director after 3½ years last October.

Wharton said the remaining two years on Stolz' $29,000 contract would be honored. Seven assistant coaches have just had their contracts renewed for one year.

"No one relished seeing two individuals penalized in this fashion for actions they may well have felt were generally accepted in intercollegiate athletics and were in the best interests of a strong athletic program," Wharton said.

He said the university committee felt Stolz "inherited a situation in which there were strong suspicions of improprieties and that he took vigorous corrective steps. Mr. Smith has devoted many loyal years to the university and I am sure he believed he was acting in the interests of a strong competitive program," Wharton said.

"However, in the wake of the recent NCAA investigation and penalties against Michigan State University, we cannot condone or overlook violations of the spirit or the letter of university or conference rules.

"If we are to restore unquestioned integrity to Michigan State University athletics, we have no choice but to rebuild our athletic program from the top down," Wharton concluded.

Barry earns Warriors rest

By ALEX SACHARE

AP Sports Writer

Rick Barry has earned himself, and his teammates, a little rest.

Barry, playing despite a painful hip pointer, scored 14 points in the fourth quarter to lead the Warriors to a 110-101 victory over Detroit Tuesday night. That triumph clinched the Pacific Division title for the defending National Basketball Association champion Warriors, the first team in the league to win a division crown.

"We will give some people some time off now that we have clinched the title," said Warriors Coach Al Attles. "There won't be any complete games off, but we'll just get them out of there a little earlier than usual."

That should be music to Barry's ear. He did not play in Golden State's 118-103 loss at New Orleans Sunday night because of the bruised hip, and did not didn't know until five minutes before gametime whether he'd be able to go against the Pistons.

"It was very painful, but he wanted to help if he could," said Attles.

He could. After scoring just two points in the first half, he came up with 18 after intermission. His three free throws put the Warriors ahead 93-89 with 7:52 to play and they slowly pulled away.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Los Angeles 109, Cleveland 105; Houston 116, New York 111; Chicago 120, Phoenix 87, and Buffalo 112, Portland 95.

Opening lead - king of hearts.

There is nothing unusual about declarer having a choice of two or more different methods of play. In exercising that choice, he should of course select the method of play that offers the best chance of success. South neglected to do so in this deal, and it cost him the contract.

He won the heart head with the ace, cashed the A-K of clubs, and continued with a club. West won with the nine, cashed the queen of hearts, and continued with the jack of clubs. When dummy ruffed with the seven, East overruffed with the ten and South finished down one.

The correct play is to lead a low trump to dummy at trick two! This loses a trump trick unnecessarily, but the trick comes back with interest.

East wins dummy's seven with the ten and returns a heart, but that is the end of the road for the defense. Whatever West plays, South enters dummy with a trump, discards two clubs on the A-K of spades, and the battle is over.

The suggested method of play wins far more often than the one declarer attempted. It succeeds in practically every case when the trumps are divided 2-2, as well as in the great majority of cases when they are divided 3-1 or 4-0.

It may seem odd to deliberately lose a trump trick when you have such powerful trumps, but sacrificing the trump trick is surely worthwhile when the play is practically certain to achieve the desired result, namely, making the contract. Sacrifice plays generally run against the grain, but when the conditions are right they should be invoked as a matter of self-preservation.

Speaking of Your Health...

Identifying Heart Murmurs

Can a doctor, simply by listening to the chest with a stethoscope, tell if a heart murmur is present and how serious it is?

Miss R.M.G., Ore.
Dear Miss G.:
Listening to the chest with a stethoscope is known as "auscultation."

Originally, the best way to listen to the chest was done by placing the ear against the chest wall. This, in the Victorian age, seemed to be a threat to modesty. A bamboo rod was then created for listening.

Then came the modern stethoscope, which amplifies sound and makes listening more exact.

Many doctors have developed the art of differentiating murmurs. By their sound, their position and their pitch, these doctors can tell which valve of the heart is involved.

Today, with electrocardiograms and electronic devices, the inside of the heart, the outside of the heart, and the heart muscle itself can release all its secrets.

When all this information is accumulated, the heart murmur can be identified fully.

What happened to the myth that aspirin is bad for the heart?
Mr. J.G., Miss.

Dear Mr. G.:
Aspirin is not dangerous to the heart. In fact, there is now a concept that a single aspirin taken daily may play an important role in the actual prevention of coronary artery disease. This is based on the fact that aspirin, taken over a long period of time, does have a distinct "blood thinning" tendency.

Of course, this should not be tried without the specific instructions of one's doctor. For it is well known that patients with a tendency to stomach and duodenal ulcers should never take aspirin. Patients directly after surgery are usually told to avoid aspirin because of the slight tendency to bleed because of it.

Aspirin is a remarkable drug. Like any other drug, it should not be taken over a long period of time without the advice of a doctor.

How does blood plasma differ from regular blood, for a transfusion?
Mrs. E.V., R.I.

Dear Mr. V.:

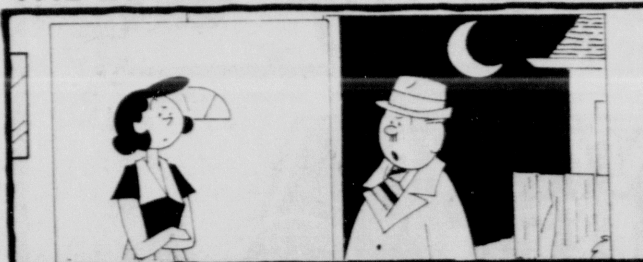

Blood plasma is a watery fluid that makes up about 55 percent of the total volume of blood. The rest is composed of red and white blood cells, hormones, minerals, platelets and many other cellular elements.

Plasma is separated from all of these cellular elements and is bottled and made available for emergency use. In such an emergency, it is extremely valuable because its use does not depend on blood types. Consequently, it can be used safely for "transfusion" before whole blood is available.

Carey Brust gave the treasurer's report and money-making projects were discussed. The club decided to have a bake sale. Fred Melvin, Lisa Melvin, Cassandra Delay and Carey Brust were appointed to make arrangements for the project. Alvin Johnson, adviser, reminded the club of the coming events: Shepherd's banquet, March 10; sheep judging contest for March 20; 4-H safety poster contest entries due April 1; 4-H safety speaking contest April 20; lamb and pig selection clinic April 21; and 4-H demonstration clinic May 6.

Members were urged to participate in any or all of these events. The club discussed touring Pennington Bakery, Washington C.H. U.S.S. Fertilizer, Mount Sterling, and the Plastic plant in Mount Sterling. Carey Brust, Jay Johnson, Lisa Melvin and Melissa Anschutz will give demonstrations at the next meeting, in the home of Kim Beckman. This will be "Parent's Night." Dr. and Mrs. Beckman will show slides of their visit to Haiti.

Village council readies water, sewer construction projects

BLOOMINGBURG — The Bloomingburg Village Council met Tuesday to discuss final arrangements for the construction of a sewage treatment plant and other village utilities.

The village is preparing to embark upon the final phase of the $1-million project to upgrade the water facilities, construct a sewage treatment plant, as well as install water meters and sewer lines.

Three-fourths of the money for the projects will be paid by a federal grant, but the village must bear the remaining $250,000.

David Stitt, a representative of the M.M. Shirtzinger engineering firm of Chillicothe, announced to council members that an additional grant of $41,000 had been awarded to the village by the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

The money will be used to fund a portion of the village's share of the bill. In addition to the EPA money, the village has arranged for Farmers Home Administration loans to cover the village share. The loans and five per cent annual interest will be repaid over 30 years.

WSHS grad promoted

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. — James E. Shasteen, son of Mrs. Betty M. Shasteen, 650 Willabar Dr., Washington C.H. has been promoted to Army specialist—four at Ft. Campbell, Ky., where he is serving with the 101st Airborne Division.

Spec. Shasteen, a horizontal control operator in Battery B, 1st Battalion of the division's 321st Field Artillery, entered the Army in September 1974, completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and was last stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla.

The 23-year-old soldier is a 1970 graduate of Washington High School and was employed by Coffman Stair Co., before entering the Army.

Signing of contracts for the FHA loan is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday, and a special council meeting has been called for 8:30 a.m. to work out remaining details. A luncheon is scheduled in the village at 11:30 a.m. Monday. The village has invited several state and federal elected representatives to attend the meeting which will be open to the public.

Village residents interested in meeting with representatives Shirtzinger and the FHA are welcome to purchase lunch and attend. Cost is $3 per person, and reservations must be made by Friday.

Those desiring reservations should call 437-7403 or 437-7623. The luncheon will be held in the Presbyterian Church in Bloomingburg.

Due to a gas leak in the town hall, the body convened in the Paint Township Hall. At the onset of the meeting, James Johnson took the oath for councilmen. He was appointed to fill the vacancy created by 1975 council chairman Michael Simpson whose resignation was read at the last meeting. Simpson cited a change in employment as the reason for the resignation.

Johnson, who goes by "Ed," is a retired mechanic and former employee of the Med-O-Pure Dairy Co.

In other action during the meeting, council announced it will install a street light at the corner of Academy and Lincoln streets.

Dayton school plan ripped due to midyear changes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dr. John A. Finger says his busing plan to desegregate Dayton public schools is unique in that it requires teachers to move with their pupils.

Finger, an expert in the field of school desegregation, submitted his proposals to U.S. District Court Judge Carl B. Rubin Monday. Rubin, who appointed him to come up with a plan for the 45,000-student system, has scheduled a hearing on it next Monday.

Finger's plan involves pairing largely black schools with predominantly white ones through busing. It would require transporting 12,000 students in the first half of the 1976-77 school year and a different 12,000 in the second half.

The plan is designed so that each student would spend half the year in his neighborhood, or "home" school and half the year at a paired school.

Finger said his proposal to have teachers accompany their pupils would help with the transition. It would be reassuring, he explained, for students to find familiar teachers in their new surroundings.

The child would not change classmates or teachers, he said, calling the concept "classroom pairing."

"Undoubtedly, this will be an inconvenience to teachers, but this inconvenience should be outweighed by the advantages of bringing the two paired schools together as a single unit," Finger said.

Finger emphasized that the plan is not final and may be revised, accepted or rejected by Judge Rubin.

Rubin has already ruled out a section of the plan which called for "metropolitan" busing across city and suburban boundaries. It proposed a metropolitan school district that would include districts in Montgomery and Greene counties.

The concept has drawn criticism from school board president William E. Goodwin, who has vowed he will not support the plan. "I won't go along with something which will destroy the city," he declared.

Restrictions on bingo may ease

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee says planned restrictions on charitable bingo games may be relaxed to some extent before they become law.

Chairman Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, said no action will be taken immediately, but that he would favor easing some restrictions on the game.

His comments came after bingo enthusiasts and employees jammed a committee hearing on the regulatory bill Tuesday, urging that its strict provisions be loosened.

The bingo players said their winnings would be decreased, and their enjoyment of the game would follow suit, under the bill.

Bingo workers said they would lose their jobs, while bingo game operators said they probably could not operate. The bill, already passed by the Senate, sets up the regulatory mechanism allowed by the bingo amendment to the state constitution approved by voters last fall.

The amendment exempted charitable bingo from the general gambling prohibition in the constitution.

The bill would limit the number of bingo games that one organization could hold, limit the jackpot and forbid any paid workers.

Only volunteers, working for charitable organizations registered under a certain tax-exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service, could hold bingo games.

Candidates address Demos

Tenth District Ohio Senate candidate John Mahoney addressed a joint meeting of the Fayette County Democrat Club and Democrat Executive Committee which was held in the Terrace Lounge.

Mahoney, who is only 26, was the youngest city commissioner ever elected in the city of Springfield. In January of this year, he was elected to the position of assistant mayor by the city commissioners. He is active in a number of county and community affairs in Clark County and is a staunch advocate of strong local government.

Following the speaker's address, all local Democratic candidates were introduced and spoke briefly. They are

Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford, candidate for county commissioner in the Jan. 3 term; Lee Cruea, candidate for county treasurer; Louise Rodgers, Sixth District state committeewoman; James E. Wisecup, Sixth District State Committeeman, and other announced candidates who have not yet filed petitions.

The next meeting will be held April, and all area Democrats are welcome to attend. A specific date for the meeting will be announced later.

Some men and women use their Guard earnings to make car payments

There are a lot of good uses for the money earned on Guard duty. Car payments are just one . . . one that is important to many of the young men and women who are joining the Ohio National Guard these days.

Today's high pay rates make the National Guard one of the top paying part-time jobs around. Guard training is also one of the best ways available to qualify for solid full-time jobs in private industry. After basic and specialty training, with good pay, it takes one weekend a month and two weeks each summer.

Men and women with prior military service qualify for part-time duty and pay immediately.

There are a lot of good uses for the money you can earn on Guard duty . . . and a lot of good spots open with local Guard units for those who want to be a part of something that counts.

Ford, Carter win Illinois primary

CHICAGO (AP) — President Ford and Jimmy Carter were, as expected, the winners in the Illinois primary election. And for Carter, there was an added bonus in a surprising haul of delegates.

Ford fashioned a runaway victory over Ronald Reagan, his fifth triumph in as many primary outings over the conservative Republican challenger.

Carter, meanwhile, trounced George Wallace, Sargent Shriver and Fred Harris in the Democratic race, enhancing his frontrunner status and effectively driving Shriver from the contest.

There was another winner, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who was trying to restore his political clout in the race Illinois voters cared most about. Daley's candidate for governor, Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett, captured the Democratic nomination over incumbent Daniel Walker, a long-time political enemy of the mayor.

With 90 per cent of the vote counted in the preferential primary, or "beauty contest," Ford had 414,103 or 59 per cent to 281,013 or 40 per cent for Reagan. Perennial Illinois candidate Lar Daly got the remaining one per cent of the vote.

Among the Democrats, the tally with 91 per cent counted was:

Carter 560,977 or 48 per cent
Wallace 320,632 or 28 per cent
Shriver 189,587 or 16 per cent
Harris 90,562 or 8 per cent.

The race measures popularity but nets the winner no delegates.

The big surprise, in separate voting for delegates, was the bloc of 57 that Carter was winning with nearly half the voting counted. His camp had said getting just 25 would be a "massive achievement." Daley was winning 87 committed to Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, who is not a candidate.

Among the Republicans, with nearly half the votes counted, Ford had 64, Reagan 13 and 15 were uncommitted.

Those elected from the 24 congressional districts are not bound to vote for the candidates to whom they are committed, even on the first ballot.

The Democrats will send 169 delegates to the national convention, the Republicans 101.

Ford called his supporters after victory and declared, "That's a great victory and another real clincher in our effort to win the nomination."

Carter, whose delegate slates were successful in rural and suburban counties, said he "did not expect to win nearly this big."

The former Georgia governor, who now has won four primaries, said the battle for the Democratic nomination probably would wind up between himself and the man who defeated him in Massachusetts, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, with U.S. Rep.

Morris K. Udall possibly "hanging in." Jackson and Udall were not on the ballot in Illinois.

This was the arithmetic of Illinois, with 90 per cent of the 11,272 precincts counted:

Ford 414,103 or 59 per cent.
Reagan 281,013 or 40 per cent.

Lar Daly, the perennial Illinois candidate, 8,461 or one per cent.

That preference balloting did not commit nominating votes. They were awarded separately, with delegate candidates running in the 24 congressional districts.

With 54 per cent of the Republican delegate votes counted, candidates pledged to Ford led for 64 convention seats, Reagan for 12, uncommitted candidates for 16.

Among the Democrats, with 91 per cent counted, it went this way:
Carter 560,977 or 48 per cent.
Wallace 320,632 or 28 per cent.
Shriver 189,587 or 16 per cent.
Former Oklahoma Sen. Fred R. Harris 90,562 or 8 per cent.

In Democratic delegate races, with 49 per cent of the delegate votes counted, Daley's Stevenson slate led for 87 seats, Carter for 57, uncommitted candidates for 6, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for 4, Wallace for 7, Walker for 1.

Ford celebrated his victory in a speech telephoned to a Republican dinner in Grand Rapids, Mich.

"That's a great victory and another real clincher in our effort to win the nomination and to go on to victory on

City Council slated to convene tonight

Washington C. H. City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the city office building.

The regularly scheduled meeting for March 24 was moved up one week so that members of Council could accompany local Chamber of Commerce representatives to the Ohio Chamber of Commerce annual luncheon next Wednesday.

No legislation is expected to be presented at the meeting, and no formal agenda was prepared for the session.

Council is expected to discuss the continuing saga of city finances. Increased costs have been projected in several departments, and the City Manager George Shapter estimates at deficit of approximately $33,000 despite curtailing of street lights, other service reductions already authorized, and increased revenue from imposition of the city income tax.

Council members will discuss what steps can be taken to reduce or overcome the deficit.

The city manager has also contacted the Dayton Power and Light Company concerning the reduction in street lights and is expected to inform Council of the action being taken to implement the cuts. It is likely that Council will also discuss further curtailment in the area of street lighting.

This meeting is expected to be the last to be held in the city office chamber. Renovation of the building interior to utilize additional office space will require that Council make other arrangements for a place to convene.

Leak probe to go worldwide

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the House Ethics Committee would settle for satirist Mark Russell's word on who leaked the leak that Daniel Schorr leaked, it could save the taxpayers $350,000 or more.

That's the amount being begged by Chairman John J. Flynt, D-Ga., to launch a hunt he says may go to "remote parts of the country or world" to find the one man or woman who handed Schorr a secret congressional report on the CIA.

Russell, on the other hand, insists that CBS correspondent Schorr was a beneficiary of the "Leak Fairy," a sort of governmental gremlin who hides out in remote parts of Xerox machines.

And it is clear that some members of Congress are as skeptical about that answer as they are about the approach envisioned by Flynt, who took his funding plea before a House administration panel Tuesday.

"I'm appalled by a figure of $350,000 above what the committee is already allowed" for routine operations, said Rep. Mendel J. Davis, D-S.C., a administration committee member.

"We hope," drawled Flynt, "that this can be done for a fraction of what we are asking." But he added that "some have suggested we could spend $1 million ... we don't know whether this is going to take one day or from now until next Jan. 3."

Similarly, he said, "The first question of the first witness could conclude this investigation. But we anticipate that 300 to 400 persons could be called upon to answer questions or appear as witnesses."

Asked if the probe could finish by July 31, or before the national political conventions, Flynt replied: "We would hope so."

Flynt's panel has been ordered by the full House to make "findings and recommendations" about the

Coffee Break . .

ALL OLD FLOWERS and decorations must be removed from the graves in Sugar Creek Baptist and Sugar Creek Methodist cemeteries by April 1 for the annual cleanup. . . any old decorations left will be discarded as of this date, according to Alfred Lininger, caretaker.

"Nobody likes to think about colon-rectum cancer," Dr. Shaw stated, "but if more people would take simple preventive steps, they wouldn't have to worry about it."

Dr. Shaw continued, "We recommend that everyone over the age of 40 visit our clinic on May 2. The Stool Guaiac Test will be given and this is a quick and simple procedure which requires less than five minutes of your time for three consecutive days."

Members of Dr. Shaw's committee are Bruce Von Barger, Marshall Boggs, Bart Mahoney, Charlene Barber, Charline Cunningham, Eleanor Henry, Jane Winttingham, Joyce Hidy and Wanda Taylor.

Two area bridges to be replaced

The Fayette County Commissioners have authorized engineer Charles P. Wagner to replace two area bridges at a cost of more than $40,000.

One bridge spans Camp Run county ditch along Jasper Coil Road, and the other crosses Lees Creek on the Barger Road.

Jasper Township bridge has a total cost estimate of $14,300. The itemized costs include $950 for removing the present structure, $1,250 for new concrete bearing walls on the present stone abutments, $600 to place a protection wall in front of each abutment; $600 to construct new guardrails, $300 for water proofing the new bridge surface, $10,100 for six prestressed concrete beams four feet wide and 35 feet long (erected in place), and $500 for incidentals.

The project is to be completed by the first of April. Total cost of the bridge on Barger Road in Greene

Township is estimated at $27,400. Itemized costs for the replacement included $1,200 to remove the old bridge, $1,500 for a new concrete bearing, $700 for protecting stone on the abutments, $900 for new guardrails, $1,400 to water proof the bridge and pave it, $21,100 to have four 61-foot beams erected, and $600 for incidentals.

Replacement is expected by the end of April.

The Hare ditch hearing was held Monday afternoon. A preliminary report was given by the County Engineer's office. The commissioners requested that the engineer bring in the map, profiles and schedules on Monday, April 12, at 11:00 a.m.

A public hearing will be held Monday, March 22, at 11:30 in the Commissioner's office. The topic of discussion will be a petition filed by Ervin Dove which asks that two alleys in the village of New Martinsburg be vacated.

Preliminary hearing date set

Murder suspect makes first court appearance

The wife of the slain Fayette County man, who has been charged with aggravated murder, saw bond set at $100,000 during an initial appearance Tuesday in Washington C. H. Municipal Court.

Alice Maye Reed, 36, 7048 Stafford Rd., represented by Attorney John C. Bryan, appeared before Judge Robert L. Simpson at Tuesday afternoon. Her charge of aggravated murder, defined in the Ohio Revised Code as causing the death of another person with "prior calculation and design" may if proven, result in a penalty of death or life imprisonment.

Bryan requested a bond figure of $50,000 for Mrs. Reed, citing the fact that she has no prior criminal record, and is currently caring for three dependents. However, assistant Fayette County prosecuting attorney John H. Roszmenn, stated that because of the seriousness of the crime, a $100,000 figure was not inappropriate. Judge Simpson set the $100,000 amount, and established 1 p.m. Friday as the date for the pre-trial hearing.

Mrs. Reed was charged Monday in Washington C. H. police officers in the beating and shooting death of Raymond

C. Reed, 42. The deceased had been living for some time at his brother Francis' home on 642 High Street. He was found dead Sunday in the bedroom of that house, after police officers had arrived to check an ill person report.

Lacerations on the back and side of the victim's head were found, in addition to gunshot wounds located in the stomach area. Pronounced dead at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, by deputy coroner Dr. Robert Heiny, the body was taken to a Cincinnati hospital for autopsy.

As the investigation continues, the High Street residence still remains sealed off by the police department, and agents from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification, London.

A life-long resident of Fayette County, Reed was a veteran of 20 years service in the U. S. Navy. He had been employed as a credit manager with the Barnhart Firestone Store, 304 E. Market St., for the past two and a half years.

Gun control law comes under fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill approved last week that would require gun dealers to check prospective buyers for possible criminal records will be reconsidered by the House, if one conservative lawmaker has his way.

Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, moved for reconsideration Tuesday of a bill he cosponsored when it passed the House 71-22. Batchelder said he feared it could have more far-reaching impact than originally intended, particularly with regard to civil liberties.

His motion was left pending. The effect was to stall any Senate action on the bill until the House either agrees to reconsider its vote or rejects the motion. That decision could come as early as Thursday.

State representatives approved 76-12 Tuesday legislation establishing licensing and regulation of occupational therapists.

Sponsor David Hartley, D-60 Springfield, said the bill was a response to complaints from the Ohio Occupational Therapy Association that some nursing homes were advertising therapists services when qualified practitioners were not on hand.

The bill would affect about 750 therapists who work with disabled persons seeking to regain physical skills through training and use of prosthetic devices, Hartley said. Occupational therapists concentrate on disabilities in the upper half of the human body.

Across the Statehouse, the Senate unanimously endorsed a bill that would authorize free tuition at state universities for children of police and firemen killed in the line of duty.

The firearms bill, temporarily in legislative limbo, would require a five-day "cooling off period" before a gun is sold. During that time a dealer could check a purchaser's record with the Bureau of Criminal Identification. Convicted felons would be denied sale.

Batchelder's concerns focus on the compilation of information by the Bureau of Criminal Identification in the attorney general's office and gun dealers.

He questioned whether merchants could use the law to check the records of someone other than a person wishing to buy a gun — a personal enemy for instance.

County recorder files re-election petitions

Fayette County Recorder Lorie M. Armbrust has filed petitions for re-election to office. Prior to her appointment to the office of Recorder in June 1965, Mrs. Armbrust, 53 of 6037 Snow Hill Road, taught in the Fayette County School District.

Her appointment in 1965 filled the vacancy created by the death of recorder Eloise Johnson. She was then elected to office in 1966 and re-elected in 1968 and 1972.

Mrs. Armbrust, a Republican, says that she enjoys serving the citizens of Fayette County as County Recorder. She attended Wilmington College, West Virginia Wesleyan University and office training school.

Quite active in several organizations, Mrs. Armbrust is the past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club, a member of the Fayette County Choral Society, Fayette County Republican Club and the Fayette County Republican Women's Club.

She was President of the Ohio Recorders' Association in 1974. Recorders' representative on the Ohio Committee of County Officials and served on the committee to update the Manual for Ohio Recorders.

Mrs. Armbrust, who is affiliated with the International Association of Clerks, Recorders, Election Officials and Treasurers, served as its Chairman of the Resolutions Committee in 1975.

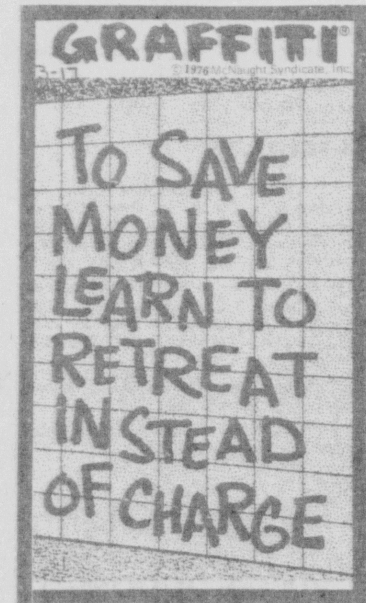

Married to Norman A. Armbrust, and the mother of three children, Mrs. David Ellen Kamiah, Idaho; Capt.

MRS. LORIE M. ARMBRUST

Gregory N. Armbrust, Wurtsmith AFB, Michigan, and Gary E. Armbrust, Washington C.H., Mrs. Armbrust said that being an elected official of county government and working in close association with those to whom she is accountable is rewarding.

Mrs. Armbrust added, "Fayette County, with its progressive city, neighborly villages and productive farms, is a county worthy of my pride. It is its citizens who have made it so. It is its citizens who must keep it so."

Ages 40 and up urged to attend

Cancer clinic scheduled for May

Dr. Byers Shaw, medical advisor for the Fayette County Unit of the American Cancer Society, announced that a colon-rectal cancer detection clinic will be held on May 2 at the Medical Arts Building, Willard Street, from 1:00 to 4:30.

"We will do away with the digital examination," Dr. Shaw said, "it proves little or nothing due to the fact that the participants will not have been on a special meat-free, roughage diet 24 hours prior to taking the first specimen," Dr. Shaw said.

Colon-rectal cancer, which will strike 99,000 Americans this year, occurs about equally in men and women. Colon-rectal cancer is usually found in the 40 to 54 age group with the risk rising with age. Nearly 24,000 men and women between the ages of 54 and 74, will be diagnosed for this form of cancer in 1976.

Cancer of the colon-rectum will claim 49,000 American lives in 1976, however, three out of four colon-rectal patients could be saved by early diagnosis and prompt treatment. When colon-rectum cancer is diagnosed in a localized stage, there is a 71 percent, five-year survival rate. When the cancer has gone beyond the colon or rectum the survival rate drops to 43 percent, an indication of the importance of early detection and prompt treatment.

The warning signals for colon-rectal cancer include symptoms of obstruction, constipation or perhaps diarrhea, gas pains, and rectal bleeding. Bloody stool is an important symptom and while it can also signify hemorrhoids, individuals should not attempt to self-diagnose.

Pentagon officials rebuked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two top Pentagon officials were rebuked by Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld for accepting hospitality from a major defense contractor, although some advisers to Rumsfeld reportedly had urged that one official be fired as a warning to others.

Dr. Malcolm R. Currie, the Pentagon's research chief, was handed a "severe reprimand" Tuesday night and ordered to forfeit four weeks salary because he and his daughter spent last Labor Day weekend at a Bahamas residence leased by Rockwell International Corp. and flew in the company's plane.

Navy Secretary J. William Middendorf received a letter of admonition, a less harsh rebuke, for going goose shooting 14 months ago at a Chesapeake Bay lodge owned by Rockwell, tenth biggest defense contractor and builder of the B1 bomber.

The Pentagon said Middendorf did not find out until two weeks ago that the place had any connection with Rockwell.

Rumsfeld told Currie and Middendorf in separate letters that "I understand that there is no evidence of any improper influence" on them as a result of Rockwell's hospitality.

However, the defense secretary said both officials had overstepped the Defense Department's standards of conduct regulations and warned them against any similar actions in the future.

In separate statements, Currie acknowledged "bad judgment," and Middendorf said he regretted "that my failure to more fully investigate an invitation resulted in the appearance of an impropriety."

Rumsfeld could have fired them, as some of his advisers reportedly urged him to do in the case of Currie to make him an example for other Defense Department civilian and military officials. But Rumsfeld chose to administer the lesser penalties, even though he had told a news conference on Feb. 6 that "I will land all over individuals who step outside the line."

There were some reports that influential members of Congress had urged Rumsfeld not to fire Currie. Asked whether consideration was given during an hours-long conference to firing the research chief, Pentagon spokesman William Greener said "all alternatives were considered."

Congress not told of change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a pledge by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to consult with Congress on major foreign policy decisions, key senators were not told of a plan to penalize the Soviet Union for aiding armed intervention in Angola.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, asked if anyone in the Senate was told of the decision to postpone talks with the Soviets on energy, housing and commercial cooperation, responded, "Not that I know of."

"Maybe he doesn't consider it major," he said of Kissinger's failure to give the Senate prior notice of the suspensions.

He added that "threats or the implication of threats won't get us far" in achieving foreign policy objectives. He said talks with the Soviets have been suspended before and "I don't place the importance on it some others do."

Other senators, including Clifford Case, R-N.J., ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., also received no prior notice of the suspension, it was learned.

The announcement the talks were being suspended was made by State Department spokesman Robert L. Funseth on Tuesday. It followed a morning-long appearance by Kissinger before the foreign relations panel during which he made no mention of the suspensions.

However, in an apparent reference to the introduction of 12,000 Soviet-supported Cuban troops into Angola, Kissinger stated the United States cannot accept exploitation of local crises to advance Soviet interests.

"Tolerance of local conflicts tempts world holocaust," Kissinger said. "We have no guarantee that some local crisis will not explode beyond control...."

"This nation will not seek confrontations lightly. But we are determined to defend peace by systematic resistance to pressures and irresponsible actions."

"Actions such as those of the Soviet Union in Angola have their penalties," Funseth said of the postponed talks.

He said other efforts to reach agreement with the Soviets on limiting nuclear weapons and on U.S. grain shipments will not be affected.

Tank owner to flaunt freedom

COYNE said he has participated for years in shows of the National Military Vehicle Collectors Association.

"It is unfortunate," said Dennison, "that this evidence was not presented prior to the September incarceration."

"I would like to see zoning laws disappear from America because they violate our rights," said Coyne, who charged he has been the victim of selective enforcement.

He served 100 days in jail for contempt in 1963 for fighting "Lady Bird

Johnson's" law in Ohio requiring fencing for junkyards in an effort to beautify highways. He complied, finally, building a fence out of multicolored automobile hoods. "Everything is beautiful in its own way," he said, adding he thinks his junkyard is beautiful because he owns it. The fence, however, does not hide the junk on the hillside which he calls "man's monument to former mobility. I'm just like a mortician working my own cemetery."

Winter refuses to release grip over much of U.S.

By The Associated Press

An intense late winter storm that howled through the Northeast was moving out to sea today, after bringing snow from Michigan and the eastern Ohio Valley into the central and northern Appalachians and over the north Atlantic coast states.

Wind gusts to 35 miles per hour caused blowing and drifting with near-blizzard conditions that were expected to continue into this morning in much of eastern New York State and Vermont. Slippery roads in Pennsylvania were blamed in three highway deaths.

In Georgia, high winds killed two people and thunderstorms left many streams overflowing. The National Weather Service warned that the Savannah River was rising to flood stage and probably would flood low-lying areas south of Augusta later in the week. Most smaller streams crested Tuesday or were expected to crest today.

Several tornadoes were sighted, but none touched ground.

Heavy snow warnings continued over much of the remst of New England and also along the southern shore of Lake Erie in northeast Ohio.

High wind warnings were posted in eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey and the Washington, D.C. area. Gale warnings flew from North Carolina northward with marine storm warnings in New England.

Travelers advisories were posted in parts of Virginia and West Virginia, in western Pennsylvania and in western New York State.

Showers and thunderstorms continued over southern Florida while fair skies and much colder temperatures were the rule over the remainder of the south Atlantic coast states into the southern plains, eastern Virginia, Tennessee and much of the Mississippi Valley region.

Freeze warnings were in effect through the night from southeast Missouri through Tennessee, extreme northern Mississippi, northern Alabama, the western Carolinas and north central North Carolina. Some frost and freezing temperatures were expected in Arkansas.

Elsewhere in the nation, light rain was scattered from northwest California into northwest Washington, with considerable middle to high cloudiness in other areas.

The forecast for today called for snow diminishing in New England, the northern Appalachians and eastern Great Lakes region, rain on the northern and central Pacific coast. Elsewhere skies were expected to be clear or partly cloudy. Temperatures were expected to be generally below normal from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic coast and above normal from the Plains to the Pacific coast.

Temperatures overnight ranged from 6 below zero at International Falls, Minn. to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Bottled water boom in Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—Telephone calls haven't stopped coming into the offices of both Charles Bolton and James Morgenroth since it was announced late last year that Cincinnati would finally have to fluoridate its water.

Bolton, as head of the city's water works, has been getting the complaints, and Morgenroth, as head of Talawanda Water Company which sells bottled spring water, has been getting the profits from the concern which has boiled over since the fluoridation process actually began Monday.

"We had a report of one woman who said she could taste the difference the first day we started. She said the fluoride had turned her pots black," said Bolton. "Actually, the fluoride won't reach where she lives for two days."

No matter how real or imagined the threat, the issue of fluoridation has been enough to send the Cincinnati voter into a frenzy. The issue was defeated in 1953, 1960, 1970 and in 1974, a charter amendment was passed requiring all further fluoridation proposals to go directly to a vote of the people.

The Ohio Supreme Court ordered late last year that the city institute the procedure. The procedure, which will be gradual, began this week, but a there is still a chance through an April 27 hearing date that the procedure can be halted.

It has inspired a flood of calls to companies like the Talawanda Water

Boys Town plans family environment

BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP) — Boys Town, made famous by a 1938 film and made wealthy by people with a soft spot for kids, is returning to the family type environment envisioned by its founder, Father Edward Flanagan.

Consultant Jim Brown said Tuesday that Boys Town is building 16 cottages on its main campus here to serve 10 boys each with live-in parents. With remodeling of existing facilities into similar units, the campus will eventually serve up to 500 boys.

The program will be expanded to other cities and the ultimate enrollment at satellite units around the nation will be limited only by the "financial resources we have to build them and maintain them," Brown said.

Brown's comments came as Boys Town made public an audit showing that its total assets in 1975 climbed to $242,102,166 — which totals nearly $608,000 for each of the 398 boys it presently serves.

That net worth is up sharply from the $191.4 million disclosed in a Pulitzer Prize-winning story by the Sun News-papers of Omaha in 1972. At that time, the private Roman Catholic institution had an average enrollment of 695 youngsters.

Brown said the resident population at the main Boys Town campus has dropped "first and foremost because we get fewer referrals of the type of boy

Base closings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said today it wants to close or cut back 80 Navy and other military bases, which would result in possible job losses for nearly 7,000 civilian workers and service personnel.

The cutbacks would affect 74 Navy installations, many of them small reserve centers, and six activities of the Defense Supply Agency, the Defense Mapping Agency and the Army. The installations are in 29 states.

Jobless pay proprieties

Much is heard about welfare cheating, foot stamp ripoffs, and other illicit feeding at the public trough. This comes to mind when considering reports that some big league professional baseball players are collecting unemployment compensation in the off season.

The practice cannot fairly be likened to the kind of illegalities cited above. The law seems to say that a ball player or anyone else temporarily out of work may register and collect unemployment pay.

Questions of propriety and regard for the general public welfare are raised, all the same. The salaries of baseball professionals range from not bad at all to absolutely sensational. Many taxpayers will take a sour view of such gentry taking jobless pay in periods when they're not actually drawing a paycheck.

THESE DAYS...By John Chamberlain

Financing Social Security

Ronald Reagan, in an early stage of his campaign, invited the voters to have a look at Social Security. He suggested that there was something fishy about its funding, or the lack thereof. The money collected for it from corporations and employees was not invested in production, and there was no way for an individual to "contract out" of the government's program in favor of putting his savings into more substantial old-age annuities.

Well, from the response that this got from Gerald Ford Republicans, you'd think that Reagan had tossed a dead cat into a Holy of Holies. Speaking of the Reagan suggestion that Social Security funds should be profitably invested in productive industry, Ford accused his challenger of advocating a "back door to socialism." Reagan was pictured as a monster who would deprive the aged of their first-of-the-month checks.

None of this happened to be true. In the first place, Reagan had not specified that Social Security trust funds should be invested in voting stock that would give the Federal government control of industry. The money could be put into bonds, or handed over to administrators who would be prohibited by law from taking part in corporate decisions. Furthermore,

Reagan had specifically said that nobody should be deprived of payments already promised by the government.

The idea of permitting individuals to "opt out" in favor of private insurance would not affect the general government Social Security program. The individual would still be under compulsion to maintain either a private or a public investment for his old age.

Since it had become apparent that the political primaries cannot be used for educational debates without exposing one's self to the most reprehensible kind of demagoguery, Reagan quickly dropped the subject of Social Security when he moved on from New Hampshire. This is a pity, for the truth is that our Social Security program is in a terrible mess. Even President Ford admits it.

"Simple arithmetic," he said in his State of the Union message, "warns us that the Social Security trust fund is headed for trouble. Unless we act soon to make sure the fund takes in as much as it pays out, there will be no security for old or young."

Ford's words were true as far as they went, but they disguised the plain fact that the so-called trust fund just ain't. What it consists of is government bonds that have not yet been sold to buyers. In short, they are simple I.O.U.s, dependent on future tax collections for their validation.

In his searching book, "The Biggest Con: How the Federal Government is Fleecing You," Irwin A. Schiff says that the unsold I.O.U.s held in the Social Security trust fund are reminders that the government's old-age "insurance" collections have already been spent on other projects. There is no legitimate reserve principle involved.

Schiff correctly observes that the only principle behind the government's policy is that of the "chain letter." Ponzi tried to work this trick as a private operator in the 1920s. When a private citizen does it, it's criminal. When the Federal government does it, it's okay.

Charles Hull Wolfe, the head of the American Economic Foundation, makes some points about Social Security that are similar to Schiff's. The fact is, says Wolfe, that the so-called trust funds will be exhausted by 1980. The current Social Security deficit is approximately three trillion dollars, which is more than five times our national debt. By indexing Social Security to inflation, Congress has fixed it so that workers in the 21st century will start retiring with benefits up to two-and-one-half times their final salary.

The Social Security collections, which do not go back into productive investment as private insurance premiums do, help drain the economy of money needed to buy the tools required to put unemployed people to work. Dr. Martin Feldstein of Harvard concludes that Social Security has reduced personal savings to about half of what they would otherwise be. The government's "chain letter" finance scheme has deprived the economy of $61 billion a year in investment funds.

It is too bad that Ronald Reagan felt he had to stop talking about what the late columnist John T. Flynn long ago describes as the "Social Security swindle." And it is too bad that Ford, who knows the system is in great trouble, refused to cooperate with Reagan in a rational discussion of the "trust fund's" deficiencies.

Whoever is elected President will have to deal with the situation - and get the federal government out of the Ponzi business.

School insurance woes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Doctors' problems buying malpractice insurance have rubbed off on school board members, the Ohio School Boards Association says.

Board members' liability insurance rates are doubling in 1976 under an association program as the property-casualty line of the insurance industry comes off the worst year in its history, said David Martin, association executive vice president.

The increase for board members is blamed on two factors—two U.S. Supreme Court decisions last year which established students' right to due process of law and an increasing tendency of pupils, parents and teachers to go to court in disputes with school officials.

"The recent difficulties in the malpractice insurance arena, especially the medical field, have had an impact on the entire industry," said Jerry F. Gumbert, association research specialist. "Carriers are reluctant to assume the malpractice risk, and those that are willing to assume it insist on very restrictive coverage."

The association sought to extend coverage of the present policies but dropped the idea after only one carrier showed an interest and it insisted on "a substantially higher premium." Gumbert said the firm also refused to cover attorneys' fees. The policies still offer liability coverage of $100,000 per occurrence and $300,000 total per year.

The association first offered liability insurance to members in 1971. In that year, premiums outstripped losses 2½-1.

Three years later losses outran premiums $86,267 to $67,580. Last year, the insurance company faced $102,722 in losses while receiving $54,945 in premiums, the association said.

Up to this year, the premium remained $20 a year.

Martin said few of the claims were for judgments. "The great majority of the cost was for attorneys' fees," he said.

He added that claims from rural school districts have increased rapidly in recent months and are on par with metropolitan districts.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Hubby 'kids' expectant wife to think pink

DEAR ABBY: I am expecting my fourth child in May. My husband and I already have three boys, and of course we'd like to have a little girl this time because four is my limit.

My husband constantly tells me and everyone else he seen that if I don't have a girl this time, he will "divorce" me (He's only kidding of course, but it hurts me to hear it just the same.)

He has gone out and bought a lot of pink baby clothes, and he's even ordered baby furniture in pink! On Valentine's Day he sent me a card, saying, "THINK PINK."

What should I give this expert needler for Father's Day in case I have another boy?

P.G.

DEAR ABBY: Since we have returned from our Christmas vacation, I have needed to get something off my chest.

Every year my husband insists that we take our children to visit his parents over the holidays because they are so eager to see the grandchildren and they'd be "hurt" if we didn't. This involves a four-day automobile trip, which we make only once a year.

During the eight days we were there this year, the grandparents left our children four times to babysit for their daughter while she and her husband attended some holiday parties!

I didn't expect my husband's parents to stay home all the time we were there, but I did resent them spending so much time with their daughter, who live right in town and sees them the rest of the year.

Since I don't have the nerve to point this out to them, I hope you'll print this as a reminder to grandparents that when their children and grandchildren make such a special effort to visit them, they should limit their outside activities.

Thanks. It's very hard to discuss in-law problems with a husband.

FEELS BETTER

DEAR FEELS: Don't rely on the in-laws to see this and mend their ways. The solution to your problem can be found through some honest dialogue with your husband. You have a legitimate beef. Start talking.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a person who would accept a lovely, hand-crocheted gift and then enter it in a handicraft show as her own creation? She even removed my "especially handmade" label from it.

HURT AND FURIOUS

DEAR HURT: She can't be playing with a full deck. Let her know that YOU know of her shenanigans.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A. Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, March 17, the 77th day of 1976. There are 289 days left in the year. This is St. Patrick's Day.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, British troops evacuated Boston by ship during the Revolutionary War. They had been under American siege since the Battle of Bunker Hill seven months earlier.

On this date —

In 1836, the Republic of Texas adopted a constitution.

In 1926, Brazil and Spain blocked Germany's admission to the League of Nations.

In 1938, during the Spanish Civil War, the loyalist-held city of Barcelona was bombed.

In 1941, the National Gallery of Art was opened in Washington.

In 1959, Tibet's Dalai Lama escaped to India during an uprising against the Chinese garrison in Tibet.

In 1970, charges were made against 22 American army officers and enlisted men in the slaying of civilians at My Lai in South Vietnam.

Ten years ago: A U.S. midget submarine located a hydrogen bomb which had fallen from an American bomber into the Mediterranean off Spain.

Five years ago: Israel's Premier Golda Meir declared that her country could not trust new U.S. plans for border guarantees in the Mideast.

One year ago: The South Vietnamese government decided to abandon the Central Highlands because the region had become militarily indefensible.

Today's birthdays: Civil rights leader Bayard Rustin is 66. Democratic Senator John Pastore of Rhode Island is 69.

Thought for today: There is nothing wrong with Ireland except that it is Irish, and there is nothing wrong with England except that it is not Irish — Bernard Shaw, Irish writer, 1856-1950.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, as the British were sailing from Boston, George Washington was preparing to move his army from Massachusetts to New York to defend that colony.

John Hay, 1838-1905, of Cleveland, Ohio, diplomat and author, served five presidents in one position or another. He went to Washington as secretary to Abraham Lincoln, and his greatest literary work was a biography of Lincoln, written with another man.

County school board schedules makeup day

The Fayette Board of Education set Monday June 7 as the final make-up day for classes in the school district at Tuesday's meeting.

The board had already established April 15 as a make-up day for time missed this winter because of icy weather. Most of the county's elementary schools will be required to hold classes on June 7, while the high school needs only the April 15 date as a make-up day.

The school district would have taken April 15 off as part of a three-day Easter vacation. The board did vote to allow an early dismissal of classes on that date.

The re-scheduling of classes apparently upset plans of several employees so classes will be dismissed an hour earlier.

The board also voted to accept detailed job descriptions of school district administrators. The job descriptions pertain to the superintendent, assistant superintendent, clerk-treasurer, supervisor of elementary education, high school principal and assistant high school principal positions.

Home economics teachers Nancy Davis, Nancy Meyers, Connie Evans and Joyce Bull attended the meeting and reviewed their department's teaching program with the school board. The teachers presented a slide show and discussed the needs of the department.

Enrollment has grown tremendously in the last few years in the high school's home economics program. The school now has the second highest Future Homemakers of America membership in the state. Each class was formed into a mini-chapter and membership has risen to 148 students. The high school has added two more teachers to the home economics staff in recent years to accommodate the increasing student interest, but the facilities — three rooms — remain the same. The four teachers agreed that more space was needed for the department.

In other board action — A contract to providing for 15 new typewriters for the high school with Tatman Typewriter Company was renewed;

Information about a junior high all-star basketball game scheduled for Tuesday was given;

A senior high school student was expelled;

A proposed school calendar for 1976-77 was reviewed; and Miles Chester, who is responsible for care of the high school grounds during the summer, had his contract was renewed.

DWI charge aired in court

A Jeffersonville man was found guilty of driving while intoxicated in Tuesday's Washington C.H. Municipal Court traffic session.

Lewis G. Christopher, 28, of Jeffersonville, was fined $250 by Judge Robert L. Simpson, and sentenced to three days in jail with credit for one day already served, and had his license suspended for 30 days.

SERVICE AWARD — Vernon Saxton, executive manager at Frisch's Big Boy Restaurant, was recently presented with a Big Boy diamond pin, for having served the company for 10 years. Saxton, who also observed his 33rd birthday, was presented with a cake, inscribed with "Happy Birthday."

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND (AP) — Snow flurries and subfreezing temperatures continued to plague Northern Ohio Wednesday night, with reports of scores of fender-bender traffic accidents on icy roads.

Problems from the four-inch snowfall were aggravated in the Cleveland area by a strike in the Cuyahoga County engineer's department that shut down road maintenance yards. Traffic was snarled on some major thoroughfares which remained unplowed and unsalted because of the strike.

Up to one foot of snow was reported unofficially in parts of Medina County, where Highland Local schools were ordered closed because of snowclogged roads.

Cleveland's Irish community called off its annual St. Patrick's Day parade today because of the bad weather and a forecast of a chill factor around zero. The parade was reset for 1 p.m. Sunday.

Lake County sheriff's deputies said road crews were spreading salt, but it was so cold the salt wasn't melting properly.

Fair Friday and Sunday and a chance of rain Saturday.

Snowy roads blamed in four mishaps

Icy roads were blamed in four of five accidents occurring in the county Tuesday.

Michael T. Miller, 16, of Mt. Sterling, was headed north on the White Oak Road when he lost control of his car near the Jones Road. The vehicle slid off the right side of the roadway at 4:40 p.m. Tuesday, and then travelled broadside across the road, landed in the left ditch, and damaged 12 rods of fence belonging to Freddie L. LeBeau of Mt. Sterling. There was moderate damage to the car.

A car driven by Anna M. Anderson, 29, of Millidgeville skidded on a snow covered portion of the Prairie Road, a half mile west of Harmony Road. The Anderson vehicle went off the right side of the road, damaging two rods of fence in the process. The 9:20 a.m. accident resulted in moderate damage to the car.

One rod of fence along the side of U.S. 62, one tenth of a mile north of Washington C.H., was damaged at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday when it was struck by a car driven by Alan S. Witherspoon, 17, of 606 Charlotte Court. While attempting to pass another vehicle, Witherspoon lost control of his car, and slid off the left side of the road, hitting the fence as a result. His car received slight damage.

As John F. Wright, 20, of Pittsburgh, was exiting from I-71 onto U.S. 35, his car skidded on the icy surface, went off the left side of the roadway and struck a guardrail at 7:40 p.m. Tuesday. There was moderate damage to the car.

A car driven by Betty J. Rhonemus, 38, of Rt. 2 Snow Hill Rd. backed into a parked car belonging to Loren L. Butcher, 33, of 57 County Manor Drive. The 9:15 p.m. Tuesday accident occurred in the Bowland parking lot in Union township, and resulted in slight damage to Butcher's car.

'It's a New Day' is theme of annual Blue Bird Potlatch

"It's a New Day" was the theme for the annual Paint Valley Camp Fire Council, Blue Bird Potlatch held Monday evening in the Mahan Building, for Blue Birds, leaders, assistant leaders, sponsors and members of their families. A red, white and blue theme prevailed in the decorations on the walls made by Mrs. Jack Ferguson. Bicentennial posters were on the walls. Bonnie Moore of the Chick-A-Dee Blue Bird group led the Camp Fire Pledge, and the invocation was done in the Indian sign language by the Ta Wan Ka Yu Stan Horizon Club and the Wi Fa Lo Ho Wedo Horizon Club, led by Mrs. Frank Sanderson. There were 300 present for the event.

Tables for the Potlatch were decorated by individual groups and judged. First-place winner was the Belle-Aire Princesses group, under the leadership of Mrs. Gary Anders. In the center of the table was a large rainbow, with wishing wells, flower pots for the mothers, and individual placemats representing large colorful tulips for spring.

Second-place winner was a table decorated with a 'Freedom Train' made by the Happy Blue Belles group under the direction of Mrs. Roger Boswell.

Third place winner was the table with miniature dolls in the patchwork costumes, with each of the girls' name and picture, made by the Sunshine Blue Birds group under the direction of Mrs. Carl Brady, leader. The judges were Mrs. Donald Wodd, Mrs. Fred James and Mrs. Allen O. McClung.

Following the meal, Paul Edgington, president of the Paint Valley Camp Fire Girls, Inc., introduced Board Members Mrs. Charles Harris, publicity; Mrs. Jack Ferguson, leader chairman; Mrs. Earl McDaniels, program chairman; Mrs. Frank Sanderson, group organizer; Mrs. Fred James, awards; Judge Robert Simpson, Do-Dad chairman; Gary Anders, Do-Dad co-chairman.

Mrs. Ferguson introduced all of the leaders, co-leaders and sponsors present.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by a Rock Group, "The Blue Mase" composed of Ross Emrick, Rod Stroup, Keith Elkins and Ray Emrick.

Auxiliary donates flags

Mrs. Ambers Conley conducted the Burnett-Ducey VFW Auxiliary, 4964, when nine members assembled in the VFW Hall recently. Mrs. William Pollard of Jeffersonville, a new member, will be inducted at a later date. Mrs. Esther Hyer gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Walter Wilson was pro-tem patriotic instructor.

It was reported that one member of the Auxiliary and four of the Post members attended the District meeting held on Sunday in Lancaster, with Chief Tarhe Post 1380 as host. Those attending were the Rev. and Mrs. Cloyce Copley, Commander Kenneth Harley and Chester Hamulak.

A donation was made for a dinner and dance in April for patients at the VA Hospital, Chillicothe. It was announced that Mrs. Mabel Whitmer requested an outdoor American flag for Memorial Hospital, and that a larger American flag had been purchased for Miami Trace High School.

Members of the Post will be hosts for the April 19 meeting in the VFW Hall when the Voice of Democracy awards and program will be presented at 7 p.m.

On April 5, nominations for the election of officers of the Auxiliary will take place, and beginning at 10 a.m. on April 10 is clean-up day at the VFW Hall, W. Elm St., to prepare for the local Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association.

Mrs. Copley and Mrs. Conley served refreshments. Mrs. Kenneth Harley was winner of a prize, and the meeting was closed according to the Ritual.

'Churches' circle topic

Mrs. Frank Dill, program chairman, gave a reading, "The Church" for the presentation of the program by Mrs. Doris Diffendal when Circle 10 of Grace United Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Dwight Morner Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Diffendal's presentation of slides showing churches in Fayette County and area churches and some in Canada, was very interesting and educational to the 21 members and three guests present.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Sam Wilson, circle leader, who read the poem "Love." The reports were made, and Miss Marian Moore reported on 'Church Day' activities.

Devotions taken from the Book of Jeremiah were made by Mrs. Glen Merritt, who also read from the book, "Israel and Ancient World," which was the history which led to the time of Abraham to the time of Christ's birth.

Mrs. George Lundberg will be hostess for the April 19 meeting.

Assisting hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Donald Moore, Mrs. Steve Kirk, Mrs. Robert Moore and Mrs. Blanche Johnston.

Class study is 'Hosea'

The Kings Daughters Class of First Christian Church met in the home of Miss Margaret Gibson, with Mrs. Walter Parsley as co-hostess and devotions leader. She read part of Psalm 96, and a very interesting history of the hymn, "Church in the Wildwood."

The lesson study of "Hosea" was presented by Mrs. Naomi Helm. Reports were read and approved. It was decided to give to the Fayette County Children's Home in September. The "bakeless" sale begins now and ends in June, and cards are being sent to the ill. An Easter flower will be purchased for the church.

Robes for the Sunlight Chorus were discussed, but tabled until later. Refreshments were served by the hostesses with a St. Patrick Day theme.

Senior Nutrition group goes bowling

Senior Nutrition participants enjoyed their third outing Tuesday afternoon when they went bowling under the sponsorship of the Men's and Women's Bowling Association and Bowland.

This week, high scorer and trophy winner was Mrs. Hazel Coder. Two weeks ago the trophy winner was Floyd Dowler.

Recipe of the week

SAUCY ASPARAGUS WITH NEW POTATOES

6-8 new red rose potatoes

COLCANNON SOUP—patterned after the famous Irish dish is a great way to celebrate St. Patrick's Day. Serve corned beef sandwiches to complete a good meal in honor of the saint.

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day with Irish colcannon soup

March is the month of St. Patrick's Day, a fine time to celebrate with the traditional Irish foods — potatoes, cabbage, corned beef — served in a different way.

Put the potatoes and cabbage together in a great, creamy soup modeled on the famous Irish dish called Colcannon. With this fabulous soup, serve hearty corned beef sandwiches and you'll have a delicious St. Patrick's Day meal that is a change from the standard corned beef and cabbage dinner.

The original Colcannon, as every daughter and son of Erin knows, is a vegetable combination of mashed potatoes and cabbage. This idea is embodied in Colcannon Soup. The soup's base is chicken broth smoothed with cooked potatoes in an electric blender, and enriched with light cream. Coarsely chopped cabbage and diced potatoes are cooked in the savory broth for hearty texture and authentic flavor. To give just the right contrast, Tabasco pepper sauce is used. It lends a lift to this mellow soup that really makes the dish. But the amount recommended is

The Good Hope United Methodist Women met in the home of Mrs. Lowell Woods. Roll call was responded to by naming a book of the Bible. Mrs. Robert Hoppes presented devotions, and it was voted to give a stand and Bible to a patient in a nursing home. It was also voted to send a petition to the General Conference opposing the change in discipline. Reports were made by those making visits to the nursing homes the past month. New hymnals for the church will be purchased.

A bake sale and bazaar was discussed with the decision to have both with the auction planned for April 10. A lunch will also be served.

A self-denial offering was collected and the program on "Prayer" was prepared by Bill Sexten and presented by Mrs. Steve Johnson.

The hostess served refreshments to Lynn Bowdle, Mrs. Don Bowdle, Mrs. Pearl Breakfield, Mrs. William Dunn, Miss Elda Fenner, Mrs. Hoppes, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Garry Keaton, Mrs. Louise Null, Mrs. Lee Reisinger, Linda Reisinger, Mrs. Earl Russell, Mrs. Home Peters, Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. William VanDyke.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Next month, an unlikely arena for the works of William Shakespeare — "CBS Radio Mystery Theater" — will celebrate the bard's 412th birthday with adaptations of seven of his best-known plays.

They'll be aired from April 19 through April 25 on more than 200 stations, but you won't find them listed under their original titles.

The leadoff show is "Murder Most Foul," which in its day was called "Macbeth." "Julius Caesar" will be known as "The Assassination." "Hamlet" will be "Long Live the King Is Dead" and so on.

While the original plot lines will remain intact, considerable compression of same has been done to fit each show to the radio series' 53-minute time limit. Parts of the dialogue will be rewritten to make Shakespeare's words more understandable to those with only a nodding acquaintance with his works.

The man doing the adaptations and risking the wrath of Shakespeare purists is Ian Martin, 63, a Scotland-born, New York-raised veteran of more than 40 years of acting and writing for radio.

He said he came up with the idea of adapting the Shakespeare plays while pondering the fact that while most people study them in high school, few ever understand them because of the rich poetry, imagery and all that.

"It suddenly occurred to me that the tragedies — and we're doing six of them — are all as full of mystery and mayhem and they certainly fit our programs as stories," he said.

Not many who struggled through Shakespeare remember "he was a magnificent story teller," he added. "So I thought we could bring the stories to the people as a kind of reintroduction to Shakespeare."

He said he retitled the plays he selected because they only are adaptations and he didn't want to mislead anyone.

"On the other hand, every familiar quote is in there," he said. "Maybe they won't be the exact words — and the scholars might jump at this — but basically it's all there."

Martin conceded that Shakespeare buffs may accuse him of bastardizing the bard, but "I think that'll come from very short-sighted people. I've already had that from one actor who said, 'Single-handedly, you've ruined Shakespeare.' Now this is ludicrous."

He said the plays he selected "are very good stories and should be heard. But I think that while Shakespeare is entitled to the profoundest respect, he's also entitled to be understood."

Strong religious habits marked early Ohio settlers

By The Associated Press

In the early 1800's Ohio was populated by families of strong religious habits, many from Europe where they often felt oppressed. It was natural that there should spring up little colonies of persons who lived together under rules drawn from their beliefs.

In Guernsey County there were the Dylksites, followers of Joseph Dylks who conducted a camp meeting on Leatherwood Creek until his claims brought charges of fraud. In Clermont County a group called Utopians was broken up. On Turtle Creek in Warren County and in parts of Adams and Montgomery Counties were settlements of Shakers, so called from their claims that they "danced in the joy of the Lord."

There were others, but perhaps the most famous colony and one of the most successful, was one of Zoroastrians, centering around the town of Zoar in Tuscarawas County. To this place in 1817-18 came a group of Separatists from southern Germany to enjoy religious freedom on the 5,600 acres they had purchased. They were simple people—farmers, weavers, carpenters, bakers—and at first they tried to live in the customary way of individual families. But among their 250 members were a number of old and enfeebled persons needing care and this led, in 1819, to the formation of a communal corporation chartered in 1832 as the Separatist Society of Zoar.

The Zoar experiment prospered for 80 years.

Patty's father set to give testimony

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With her father among the final witnesses, Patricia Hearst's trial for bank robbery appears all but assured of reaching the jury by week's end.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter hinted Tuesday that he would reject efforts by either U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. or defense counsel F. Lee Bailey to carry testimony beyond today.

"You've both had two chances now and that's it," Carter said, referring to each side's main case and rebuttal presentations.

Bailey told the judge he had "one more witness for sure" and indicated outside court that it was the defendant's mother, Catherine Hearst. Her father, San Francisco Examiner President Randolph A. Hearst, testified Tuesday.

Browning suggested in court that he would seek to reopen the government's case to answer the defense's latest testimony.

"I will rule preliminarily on that right now," Carter replied, "and the answer is no." The trial is now in its eighth week.

Carter has set aside one full day for closing arguments and that could come Thursday, followed by the judge's instructions to the jury.

Carter has told the jurors, who have been sequestered since Feb. 4, that they should "deliberate through the weekend," if necessary.

Bailey spent most of Tuesday attempting to discredit two psychiatric experts who testified for the government.

Dr. Joel Fort of San Francisco and Dr. Harry Kozol of Boston each said Miss Hearst, 22, was a willing convert to terrorism when she and her Symphonie Liberation Army kidnappers robbed a bank on April 15, 1974.

She herself has testified she was still a hostage and that her captors ordered her to participate or be killed.

In a surprise move, Bailey also called Miss Hearst' longtime friend, Patricia Tobin, who described her chum from schooldays as "not the same person" when she was captured last Sept. 18.

Mrs. Louise Rodgers named to hospital board presidency

The Fayette Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees elected new officers Monday, and Mrs. Louise Rodgers was named to succeed Milbourne L. Flee as president.

Active in civic and political affairs, Mrs. Rodgers has served on the board since 1972. She is one of three Democrats on the six-member board. She and other trustees are appointed by the Fayette County Commissioners, the common pleas judge and the probate judge.

The function of the hospital board is anesthesiologist and will fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Dr. Marvin H. Roszmann. Dr. Roszmann will continue his private practice.

The monthly statistical report showed 351 admissions for 2,130 in-patient days. There was an average of 73.44 persons in the hospital daily.

Occupancy stood at 84.10 per cent capacity in the hospital and at 92.31 per cent in the medical and surgical division. The average length of stay per person was 6.22 days, with an average of 6.81 days in the medical and surgical division.

The hospital took 1,371 x-rays, performed 6,603 laboratory tests, rendered 617 physical therapies and 435 inhalation treatments.

There were 1,296 persons treated in the emergency room.

In all, there were 72 major surgeries performed and 74 minor surgeries.

The actual hospital revenue per patient-day this year has been $106.08. The budget estimated $11.82, and the national average is $157.50, Kunz said.

The actual expenses to date have averaged $118.01 while the budget called for $125.12. The national average is $154.

The total expense per admission to date has been $731.12. The budget estimated $782.67, and the national average is $1,191. Kunz noted that the national average per hospital stay had reached the $1,000 mark for the first time in history.

Other officers elected were Denzil Leggett, first vice president; Dr. T. J. Hancock, second vice president; and Taylor Groff, secretary treasurer. Rounding out the board are Flee and Jessie Persinger.

Several items were discussed Monday, including Wilbur Welton nursing scholarships. The board considers candidates for nursing scholarships each year which provide two area residents with books and tuition up to $2,000.

One scholarship is for the Fayette Memorial Hospital School of Practical Nursing and the other is for any certified school of registered nursing, providing the recipient agrees to work for the local hospital for a period after graduation.

Hospital administrator Robert L. Kunz is now accepting applications and can be contacted at the hospital for details.

The board approved an expenditure of up to $6,900 for installation of oxygen and suction equipment in seven hospital rooms, and $4,590 in laboratory equipment.

Dr. L. G. Ranpura was granted active hospital staff status. He is an

The dark-colored bird eats almost nothing but the freshwater apple snail, which has become scarce due to drought, fire and drainage of marshes for agricultural and residential development.

Reds' Gordy Coleman addresses Lions Club

Gordy Coleman, former player for the Cincinnati Reds and now a member of the Reds speakers bureau, was a guest at the Washington C.H. Lions Club meeting Tuesday night.

"This is a very trying time now in view of the player-owner negotiations in progress," Coleman said, "The demands from Marvin Miller, player representative and former steel negotiator, are unrealistic." Coleman continued saying that he felt the American baseball fan would be further hurt. "And that's in the pocket-book."

According to Coleman, the spiraling costs for the development of new baseball players along with the high salaries demanded by established players, makes it extremely difficult for owners to make any improvements or earn money.

"Last year it cost the Cincinnati Reds $2.5 million for their farm system alone, and it takes approximately $500,000 to $750,000 to produce a player ready for major league play," Said Coleman, adding that only four out of every 100 players makes it to the big leagues.

Coleman who cited last year's World Series as being one of the most thrilling in history, said that each member of the Reds received an additional $19,000 after the series win.

"The Reds ball club is a pretty good club to work for considering that since 1970 each player has earned an additional $56,000," Coleman stated.

Concluding his talk, Coleman said that the four members of the Cincinnati club who have not signed contracts thus far are Don Gullet, Will McEnaney, Tony Perez and David Concepcion.

Other business of the evening included the announcement that the Lions Club may well clear approximately $2,700 from their recent variety show with the proceeds going to the welfare and sight saving fund.

The group was informed that the state convention would be held on May 21, 22 and 23 in Columbus, Ohio, and at the next meeting the program would be on the Pilot Dogs from Columbus.

A nominating committee proposed the following club members for various club offices: President, Jessie Persinger, 1st Vice President, George Naylor; 2nd Vice President, Jim Polk; 3rd Vice President, Ben Roby and Wiley Witherspoon, Secretary, Mike Flynn; Asst. Secretary, David Boswell and Patrick Riley; Treasurer, Richard Stinson; Asst. Treasurer, Charles Tye and Allen Willoughby; Tail Twister, Ralph Hyer and S.E. Vaughn; Lion Tamer, Maynard Joseph and Ronald Walker; Directors (two to be elected), Chester Dean, Carman Frogale, Jim Polson and Joseph White.

The annual election will be held at the April 13 meeting.

Guests for the evening were Scott Douglas, Langdon McCoy, Clyde Cramer, Jerry Wackman, George Smith, Fred Blocher, Past District Governor, Donald Moore and Gary Anders. Two new members Charles Wehner and Fred Reading, were introduced.

Plans set for annual Kiwanis talent show

The Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club finalized plans for its annual Teen Talent Show at Monday's monthly board of directors meeting.

This year's show is scheduled for April 10 and auditions will be held March 28. A practice date was scheduled for April 4. Plans for advertising and ticket sales were also completed.

The board reviewed a request from Washington C.H. Jaycees concerning plans for the July 4 Bicentennial parade. The request was tabled until additional information could be obtained.

Richard Killian, executive vice president of the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce, was unanimously voted into the club as an honorary member. Killian is a past president of the local Kiwanis Club. The club voted on the honorary membership in respect for Killian's contributions to the club.

On hand at Monday's meeting were Miami Trace Key Club students Kurt Brown and Jeff Crabtree.

Downturn in lambs continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers and feed lot operators appear to be boosting production of beef cattle and hogs but the long-time decline in lamb production is continuing, according to the agriculture department.

As of March 1 there were 611,000 sheep and lambs on feed in the seven major producing states, down 14 per cent from the inventory being readied for the slaughter market a year earlier and 32 per cent below the March 1, 1974 mark, the department said Tuesday.

Officials said the March 1 inventory was the lowest since records started in 1960. Sheep production has been declining steadily in recent years, partly because of predator effects and because producers have shifted to other lines of production.

Consumer group urges constitutional change

Citizens for Utility Rate Equality (CURE) has opened a drive to amend the Ohio Constitution to require that all public utilities in the state use an original cost formula on which to base their customer rates, state auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said.

"This is a totally non-partisan citizens' effort to eliminate the outmoded and unfair Reconstruction Cost New (RCN) formula the utilities now use, and replace it with one using original cost as the rate basis," he said.

CURE came into being last month when it appeared the General Assembly was bogged down with details, and under heavy pressure from utility lobbyists, over utility rate setting legislation, Ferguson added.

"The legislation, now in a House subcommittee, has been rewritten and rewritten to such an extent that nobody really knows what it proposed to do," he added. "However, we do know it will not benefit the residential utility customers, if history is any judge."

CURE hopes to amass a half million signatures of concerned utility users across the state of Ohio to force the proposed RCN repeal amendment onto the November election ballot.

"Actually, only about 308,000 signatures are needed," Ferguson, a founding member and spokesman for CURE, said, "but we are shooting for 500,000 signatures. That way there will be no doubt about having sufficient valid names, nor any doubt as to the concerns of Ohioans over constantly increasing monthly utility bills."

He added, "What we want to see in Ohio is a change from the current Reconstruction Cost New, Less Depreciation formula (RCNLD) to an original cost basis upon which to project the rates utilities can charge their customers."

"We do not know for certain that an original cost formula would result in a reduction in monthly rates, although we hope it will; however, we do know that it will stop or considerably slow down the constantly increasing rates that we have witnessed in recent months."

The CURE amendment also would require the Ohio Utilities Commission to take into consideration when fixing rates "customer complaints, level of service and management policies and practices," Ferguson said. "The utilities commission would be empowered to order service improved and utility operations brought up to an adequate, efficient and proper level."

CURE leaders say they plan to actively push the amendment petitions in all 88 counties. "We plan to have a wholly volunteer CURE operation in every county and we call upon all Ohioans to assist in the effort," Ferguson concluded.

Less than half of issues win

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Forty-three per cent of the issues before voters in Ohio school districts since the last general election have been approved, the Department of Education said Tuesday.

The 21 issues before the voters have included 11 new operating levies, six bond issues, one operating levy renewal, two capital improvements levies and one combination new and renewal operating levy.

Between November 1974 and June 1975, 30 per cent of the issues in special school elections passed.

Hurstel Robinson of Hillsboro has filed suit against Fayette Memorial Hospital, emergency room staff member Dr. Gary Meade, radiologist, Dr. Douglas Morris and MEF Inc., of Bellefontaine, the firm with which the hospital contracts for emergency room medical coverage. The plaintiff states that he was admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital April 12, 1975 following a motorcycle accident and was treated by Dr. Meade. Dr. Morris reportedly read x-rays taken of the plaintiff. The plaintiff further states that he was admitted to a Springfield hospital on May 2, 1975 for treatment of a broken foot which had not been diagnosed by the hospital here. He states that he suffered hospital expense in the amount of $594 as well as great pain during the interim. Deakyne is seeking $200,000 in damages.

Black caucus takes hint from Wallace

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National Black Political Assembly has taken a lesson from a candidate at the other end of the political spectrum.

"George Wallace has never won the White House, but he has never lost an election," said Ron Daniels, national chairman of the organization which begins its convention today.

"His presence and importance is evidenced by the drift to the right of both national political parties."

The National Black Political Assembly will be attempting to do on the left what the Alabama governor has done on the right when between 3,500-4,000 persons gather for its convention which runs through Sunday.

"We can take heart from the success that other independent groups have had in the past," said Daniels. "They may not have won, but they have brought about significant changes."

Who will spearhead the effort to build a political powerbase remains in doubt since Georgia state legislator Julian Bond decided not to accept a nomination to run for president on an independent ticket.

While Bond, who attracted national attention when he was named as a possible Democratic candidate for vice-president, may still attend the convention, Daniels said "matters other than the expressed political direction of the NBA would be central to his (Bond's) understanding and performance during the course of the next year."

Opening day threatened

Players to denounce owners final offer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The players association's executive board was expected to rubber-stamp today chief negotiator Marvin Miller's denunciation of the baseball owners' "final" proposal to settle the prolonged labor dispute.

Now, not only spring training — delayed by the owners since March 1 — was in danger, but so was the scheduled April 8 start of the season.

"It (the season opening) is getting close and every hour it is more in jeopardy," said American League

President Lee MacPhail after Miller tore apart the owners' proposal and charged the baseball executives with a mammoth publicity ploy.

"I'm shocked," said John Gaherin, management's chief negotiator. "He (Miller) has put this thing in some position."

MacPhail said the owners were adamant on what they considered a far-reaching proposal that would change the face of baseball for years to come.

"We won't change a colon, not a semicolon," MacPhail said. And then to emphasize their determination, the owners' committee packed its bags and went home.

"Miller will telephone Mr. Gaherin in New York tomorrow (Wednesday) with the Executive Board's decision," said MacPhail, who appeared weary and bleary eyed after six days of fruitless negotiating.

"Will there be a season?" MacPhail was asked. "I don't know," murmured the American League boss.

Gaherin, too, appeared tired and admitted disappointment at the turn of events. He and the owners felt they had whipped together an offer the players couldn't refuse — one that gave the players the controversial one-and-one option rights, but with built-in safeguards to protect balanced competition in baseball.

"Their tone was a tone of rejection," Gaherin said after Tuesday's negotiating session with Miller and some 25 of baseball's brightest stars.

Gaherin was asked if the almost certain rejection by the players' Executive Board meant that talks had collapsed.

"I'm not going to say collapsed," he replied. "But our offer will be withdrawn. It won't hinder the (future) bargaining."

Both Gaherin and MacPhail emphasized that the owners' 10-page proposal delivered Tuesday was a "take-all, leave-all" proposition.

MacPhail said the Tuesday talks concerned clarification of some of the owners' proposals, not the merits of the offer. They answered questions from the players and from Miller.

Earlier, Miller held a news conference along with the players and chipped away at the owners' proposals.

He said in effect the owners' version of the one-and-one option was a farce.

"The players would not be free agents in the Messersmith sense," Miller said. "Nor has the issue of liability been settled. It's been reduced."

Tide's Douglas eyes Indiana

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Leon Douglas, who overwhelmed a second-team All-American last time out, gets a chance to take on No. 1 Thursday night.

Douglas, the 6-foot-10 senior of sixth-ranked Alabama, goes against first-team All-American Kent Benson in the key matchup as the Crimson Tide meets unbeaten and top-rated Indiana in a Midwest Regional semifinal of the NCAA basketball tournament at Baton Rouge, La.

"I'm looking forward to Indiana," said Douglas, who was the catalyst in Alabama's 79-64 upset of North Carolina last Saturday, scoring 35 points and grabbing 17 rebounds against Tar Heels center Mitch Kupchak. "I like a challenge. I'd rather play against the best."

"All-American stuff doesn't bother me," added Douglas, a third-team All-American. "I just want to play a game — and win."

Douglas may have a slight edge in quickness over Benson, a 6-foot-11 junior, although the Indiana center appears to be a bit more physical. "I feel I have to outquick my opponents," said Douglas. "My speed is my best asset."

Both coaches, meanwhile, are approaching the game apprehensively.

"We will be playing a truly outstanding basketball team, well-coached and with exceptional ability," said Indiana's Bobby Knight. "Leon Douglas is the finest center we will have faced, and he has teammates who complement his abilities and give the team many dimensions. It is a unique team in that it has great quickness without sacrificing size and strength."

"We are greatly impressed by them. We will have to play our very best to maintain a chance to win."

And that's the favorite talking.

C.M. Newton, coach of underdog Alabama, said, "To have gone unbeaten over the past two regular seasons like Indiana has done is mind-boggling. But if we do our part, it will be a good game."

In the other Midwest Regional semifinal, second-ranked Marquette puts its 22-game winning streak on the line against Western Michigan.

Tape keeps Kentucky's 'Mr. Inside' in game

NEW YORK (AP) — Kentucky's game is inside basketball and for a while, the Wildcats didn't have any "Mr. Inside" to play it.

Kentucky muscleman Mike Phillips sprained his right foot and had to leave in the first half of Tuesday night's National Invitation Tournament game with Providence.

"I was hurt going up for a rebound," the 6-10 center said. "I got my legs all tangled up and twisted my ankle real good."

Some tape fixed it and then Phillips fixed Kansas State in the second half, providing the proper remedy for Kentucky's 81-78 quarter-final victory.

"We took Kansas State inside," said Phillips. "It's a better percentage shot. I thought if we did that, beat them inside, that we'd eventually wear them out."

Phillips, who had scored but four points in the first half, poured in 13 once entering the contest with seven minutes gone in the game, and led the Wildcats back from a 63-51 deficit.

"Phillips had an ankle injury and I thought we could sneak by without him in the second half," said Kentucky

Coach Joe Hall. "I almost waited too long once I decided to put him back in. I made sure that the other players would get the ball to him."

Kentucky advanced to Thursday night's semifinals against Providence, which defeated Louisville 73-67 in the opener of a doubleheader Tuesday night. North Carolina State and surprising North Carolina-Charlotte, who won quarter-final games Monday night, will play in the other semifinal game.

As soon as Phillips came into the game, he was a help to his team. Within a minute, he had his first basket and by the time he was finished scoring, Kentucky had a 76-70 lead with 5:10 to play. James Lee later hit two free throws with 1:18 remaining to provide the Wildcats of the Southeastern Conference with an 80-74 lead and their eventual winning points.

Bruce Campbell and Bill Eason each hit four big foul shots in the last three minutes to lead Providence over Louisville. The Cardinals had scored four straight points and moved within 59-57 of the Friars at the 4:18 mark before the team from New England used the foul shot to wrap up the tense game.

Miami Trace honors cagers at annual award banquet

A high school student doesn't have to throw a block or dribble a basketball to be considered a credit to the school's sports program. He can help out in other ways.

Tarkio Chester is one such student. The Miami Trace senior has contributed plenty to the Panther sports program the past four years, and the Miami Trace Boosters Club showed its appreciation Tuesday night.

Chester was a trainer for both the Panther basketball team and football team this past year. His service was apparently indispensable to the school.

At last night's basketball awards banquet, the boosters gave Chester a $250 stipend to be used for his college education at the school of his choice.

A host of other Miami Trace students were also honored at last night's annual banquet.

Five varsity basketball players received special awards from first-year, but veteran coach John Woolums. Woolums, who just finished up his 34th season as a prep coach, now owns a 442-200, won-loss record after the Panthers' 9-10 season.

Junior Dan Gifford grabbed two special awards. He received a trophy for the best field-goal shooting percentage as well as the Most Valuable Player trophy.

The MVP award goes to the Panther with the most field goals, freethrows, interceptions and rebounds.

Senior Allan Conner was awarded the leading rebounder trophy and Rod Garringer received the best freethrow percentage trophy.

Junior Brant Dunn was the recipient of the scholastic award while senior John Schlichter was awarded the annual Hunter Memorial Sportsmanship Award.

Gifford, Conner, Garringer, Schlichter, Dunn, and Chester also received varsity letter awards as did nine other students.

They were Bill Hanners, Gary English, Sam Grooms, Wendel Logan, David Glass, Joe Black and managers Fred Melvin, Dale Klepec and Alan Thompson.

Reserve Coach Mike Henry handed out 13 awards to his squad. Award winners were Craig Dement, Brent Knisley, Glen Cobb, Dennis Combs, David Creamer, Keith Downing, Don Eye, Jeff Gillette, Tim Hendricks, Jack Redman, Kevin Stockwell, Ben Stockwell and manager Stanley Burnett.

Steve Higgins, John St. Clair, Walter Hart, Dan Leisure, Carey Brust and manager Ross Emrick. Dunn and Persinger, the team's co-captains, got special mention for being the squad's leading scorers this past season.

Cheerleader advisors Connie Evans and Kay Black passed out awards to the members of this year's cheering corps.

Varsity cheerleaders receiving mention were seniors Vicki Patton, Tammy Johnson, Tammy Walters and Debbie Cremons and juniors Terri Helsel, Debbie Persinger and Christie Tarbutton.

Reserve award winners were Sandy Hughes, Barb Johnson, Linda Merritt and captain Toni Smith.

Freshman cheerleaders receiving awards were Joyce Eagleton, Terry Vermillion, Debbie Thompson, Tammy Arnold, Sonja Stewart, and Micheal Deskins.

Dick Reynolds, head basketball coach at Otterbein College, was the speaker for the evening. Reynolds, who was the runnerup for Ohio College Coach of the Year honors, spoke on the importance of college.

Reynolds directed his team to a 21-6 record this year.

With the coach was former Panther cager Muff Jones, who was the sixth man on this year's Otterbein team.

Bumgarner named class AA district player of the year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Todd Penn, the only holdover regular from Columbus LindenMcKinley's 1975 state tournament champions, was hailed today as The Associated Press' Ohio Central District Class AAA prep basketball Player of the Year.

The 5-foot-9 junior's floor play and 17.9-point average have led the 10th-ranked Panthers to within four victories of their second successive big school championship.

A district panel of sports writers and broadcasters selected Circleville's Biff Bumgarner as the Class AA Player of the Year and Randy Weston of Morral Ridgedale as the top area performer in Class A.

Dale Estepp of Lancaster Fairfield Union, 17-1 during the season, earned the district Class AA coaching laurels and the Class A Coach of the Year honor went to Jim Schock of 15-3 Sparta Highland.

Bumgarner, first all-state in football as a running back last fall, ranks as Circleville's alltime basketball scoring champion. The 5-foot-11 senior forward averaged more than 21 points and helped lead into the Dayton Regional tournament this week.

Weston excels as an allaround player. Besides playing standout defense, the 6-1 senior put in more than 17 points a contest, helping Ridgedale into the Dayton Regional.

Andy Messersmith studies team offers

By The Associated Press

The Andy Messersmith auction is expected to heat up today as more major league clubs make their pitch for the free agent who won 39 games for the Los Angeles Dodgers the past two seasons.

The Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Cardinals phoned their offers for Messersmith's services to the 30-year-old right-hander's agent, Herb Osmond, on Tuesday, while Ted Turner, the new owner of the Atlanta Braves, tendered his bid personally.

The San Diego Padres have said they plan to make an offer and a host of others are expected to follow suit in the auction which could bring back memories of last winter's Catfish Hunter sweepstakes, won by the New York Yankees for $3.75 million.

NFL owners say 'no' to Memphis

SAN DIEGO (AP) — National Football League officials are expected to solve one of their problems by turning down the Memphis bid for a franchise in 1976, but still have a host of other controversies in front of them today including the "Rozelle Rule."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said that he expects legal obstacles against the controversial compensation rule named for him might be eliminated if the owners and players get together on a new overall contract.

There hasn't been a player-owner pact in two years.

Wittenberg defeats Miles College

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Wittenberg basketball Coach Bob Hamilton says his team is playing with confidence and is aiming to match the school football squad's accomplishment of winning a national crown after losing the conference title.

"Being in the final four is certainly a good feeling, but our goal is to win it all," Hamilton said after the Tigers easily defeated Miles College 101-75 in the NCAA Division III quarterfinals Tuesday night.

Gus Ganakas fired as MSU cage coach

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gus Ganakas has been yanked from his job as head basketball coach at Michigan State University, the school announced Tuesday to the surprise of both Ganakas and fans.

Head coach since 1969, Ganakas said afterwards he was "very surprised" by the move.

"It's the perils of this business. I was confident we had a good year, and that we should have been rewarded," said Ganakas.

Woody announces new crop of high school grid recruits

COLUMBUS — One of the best classes in Ohio State football history has just bowed out, but Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes thinks he has come up with a worthy successor.

Hayes, who has completed 25 years with the Buckeyes and is the fourth winningest coach in college history, will lose 11 regulars from last year's team which finished with an 11-1 record and captured a fourth straight Big Ten title.

To offset that loss of talent, which includes three first-team All-Americans, the veteran coach has signed 27 of the nation's top high school and junior college standouts to letters-of-intent for the coming year.

It's the largest number the Buckeyes have taken since 1967 and some experts are predicting that this class may be on a par with that fabled '67 group, which went on to win 27 of 29 games and boasted such standouts as Rex Kern, Leo Hayden, Jack Tatum, John Brockington, Jan White and Jim Stillwagon.

Hayes, the mastermind of the Buckeyes' recruiting program, won't make a comparison, but he will admit that his collection of athletes has outstanding potential.

"It is certainly a class that would rank as way above average," he conceded. "We feel that we have a number of great athletes in this group and that they will become great college football players."

Hayes added that the Buckeye staff concentrated heavily on running backs in an effort to overcome the loss of two time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin and versatile wingback Brian Baschnagel.

"We knew we had lost some great backs so we recruited with the idea of finding other great ones," said the 1975 College Coach of the Year. "We think we did just that. There are some exceptional backs in this class."

The list of signees is comprised of 14 Ohio prep players, two from Virginia, California and Georgia and one each from New York, Kentucky, West Virginia, Michigan, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Two of the recruits are transfers. Ron Springs, a tailback, one of the most sought after players in the country, played at Coffeyville Junior College last year, and Paul Ross, a fullback-linebacker candidate, transferred to Ohio State from the University of Georgia.

Stolz resigns grid post

MSU sports shakeup widens

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Denny Stolz resigned as head football coach at Michigan State on Tuesday, the most recent and highest ranking victim of the investigation of MSU's football program.

Stolz, head coach for three years, was asked to resign last weekend by university President Clifton Wharton after Wharton met with the school's board of trustees. The resignation of former athletic director Burt Smith has also been requested.

Unlike Stolz, Smith has tenure at the university and school officials are negotiating with him "equitable arrangements leading to his termination or retirement," Wharton said.

Wharton said the decision to ask Stolz, 42, to resign was the result of new findings of a special university committee investigating the football program. The NCAA has placed MSU on three years probation after determining 34 violations, mostly in recruiting.

Barry earns Warriors rest

By ALEX SACHARE

AP Sports Writer

Rick Barry has earned himself, and his teammates, a little rest.

Barry, playing despite a painful hip pointer, scored 14 points in the fourth quarter to lead the Warriors to a 110-101 victory over Detroit Tuesday night. That triumph clinched the Pacific Division title for the defending National Basketball Association champion Warriors, the first team in the league to win a division crown.

"We will give some people some time off now that we have clinched the title," said Warriors Coach Al Attles. "There won't be any complete games off, but we'll just get them out of there a little earlier than usual."

That should be music to Barry's ear. He did not play in Golden State's 118-103 loss at New Orleans Sunday night because of the bruised hip, and did not didn't know until five minutes before gametime whether he'd be able to go against the Pistons.

"It was very painful, but he wanted to help if he could," said Attles.

He could. After scoring just two points in the first half, he came up with 18 after intermission. His three free throws put the Warriors ahead 93-89 with 7:52 to play and they slowly pulled away.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Los Angeles 109, Cleveland 105; Houston 116, New York 111; Chicago 120, Phoenix 87, and Buffalo 112, Portland 95.

Wharton would not reveal what the committee found, however, and Stolz indicated he didn't know either. But Wharton said the information is being shared with the Big Ten, which is also probing the matter.

Smith's attorney said Monday Wharton indicated he felt Smith had withheld information from the special committee. Smith, 58, has been coordinator of special projects since he was ousted as athletic director after 3½ years last October.

Wharton said the remaining two years on Stolz' $29,000 contract would be honored. Seven assistant coaches have just had their contracts renewed for one year.

"No one relished seeing two individuals penalized in this fashion for actions they may well have felt were generally accepted in intercollegiate athletics and were in the best interests of a strong athletic program," Wharton said.

He said the university committee felt Stolz "inherited a situation in which there were strong suspicions of improprieties and that he took vigorous corrective steps. Mr. Smith has devoted many loyal years to the university and I am sure he believed he was acting in the interests of a strong competitive program," Wharton said.

"However, in the wake of the recent NCAA investigation and penalties against Michigan State University, we cannot condone or overlook violations of the spirit or the letter of university or conference rules.

"If we are to restore unquestioned integrity to Michigan State University athletics, we have no choice but to rebuild our athletic program from the top down," Wharton concluded.

Opening lead - king of hearts.

There is nothing unusual about declarer having a choice of two or more different methods of play. In exercising that choice, he should of course select the method of play that offers the best chance of success. South neglected to do so in this deal, and it cost him the contract.

He won the heart head with the ace, cashed the A-K of clubs, and continued with a club. West won with the nine, cashed the queen of hearts, and continued with the jack of clubs. When dummy ruffed with the seven, East overruffed with the ten and South finished down one.

The correct play is to lead a low trump to dummy at trick two! This loses a trump trick unnecessarily, but the trick comes back with interest.

East wins dummy's seven with the ten and returns a heart, but that is the end of the road for the defense. Whatever West plays, South enters dummy with a trump, discards two clubs on the A-K of spades, and the battle is over.

The suggested method of play wins far more often than the one declarer attempted. It succeeds in practically every case when the trumps are divided 2-2, as well as in the great majority of cases when they are divided 3-1 or 4-0.

It may seem odd to deliberately lose a trump trick when you have such powerful trumps, but sacrificing the trump trick is surely worthwhile when the play is practically certain to achieve the desired result, namely, making the contract. Sacrifice plays generally run against the grain, but when the conditions are right they should be invoked as a matter of self-preservation.

Identifying Heart Murmurs

Can a doctor, simply by listening to the chest with a stethoscope, tell if a heart murmur is present and how serious it is?

Miss R.M.G., Ore.
Dear Miss G.:

Listening to the chest with a stethoscope is known as "auscultation." Originally, the best way to listen to the chest was done by placing the ear against the chest wall. This, in the Victorian age, seemed to be a threat to modesty. A bamboo rod was then created for listening.

Then came the modern stethoscope, which amplifies sound and makes listening more exact.

Many doctors have developed the art of differentiating murmurs. By their sound, their position and their pitch, these doctors can tell which valve of the heart is involved.

Today, with electrocardiograms and electronic devices, the inside of the heart, the outside of the heart, and the heart muscle itself can release all its secrets.

When all this information is accumulated, the heart murmur can be identified fully.

What happened to the myth that aspirin is bad for the heart? Mr. J.G., Miss.

Dear Mr. G.:

Aspirin is not dangerous to the heart. In fact, there is now a concept that a single aspirin taken daily may play an important role in the actual prevention of coronary artery disease. This is based on the fact that aspirin, taken over a long period of time, does have a distinct "blood thinning" tendency.

Of course, this should not be tried without the specific instructions of one's doctor. For it is well known that patients with a tendency to stomach and duodenal ulcers should never take aspirin. Patients directly after surgery are usually told to avoid aspirin because of the slight tendency to bleed because of it.

Aspirin is a remarkable drug. Like any other drug, it should not be taken over a long period of time without the advice of a doctor.

How does blood plasma differ from regular blood, for a transfusion?

Mrs. E.V., R.I.
Dear Mr. V.:

Blood plasma is a watery fluid that makes up about 55 per cent of the total volume of blood. The rest is composed of red and white blood cells, hormones, minerals, platelets and many other cellular elements.

Plasma is separated from all of these cellular elements and is bottled and made available for emergency use. In such an emergency, it is extremely valuable because its use does not depend on blood types. Consequently, it can be used safely for "transfusion" before whole blood is available.

Village council readies water, sewer construction projects

BLOOMINGBURG — The Bloomingburg Village Council met Tuesday to discuss final arrangements for the construction of a sewage treatment plant and other village utilities.

The village is preparing to embark upon the final phase of the $1-million project to upgrade the water facilities, construct a sewage treatment plant, as well as install water meters and sewer lines.

Three-fourths of the money for the projects will be paid by a federal grant, but the village must bear the remaining $250,000.

David Stitt, a representative of the M.M. Shultz engineering firm of Chillicothe, announced to council members that an additional grant of $41,000 had been awarded to the village by the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

The money will be used to fund a portion of the village's share of the bill. In addition to the EPA money, the village has arranged for Farmers Home Administration loans to cover the village share. The loans and five per cent annual interest will be repaid over 30 years.

Service note

WSHS grad promoted

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. — James E. Shasteen, son of Mrs. Betty M. Shasteen, 650 Willabar Dr., Washington C.H. has been promoted to Army specialist—four at Ft. Campbell, Ky., where he is serving with the 101st Airborne Division.

Spec. Shasteen, a horizontal control operator in Battery B, 1st Battalion of the division's 321st Field Artillery, entered the Army in September 1974, completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and was last stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla.

The 23-year-old soldier is a 1970 graduate of Washington High School and was employed by Coffman Stair Co., before entering the Army.

Signing of contracts for the FHA loan is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday, and a special council meeting has been called for 8:30 a.m. to work out remaining details. A luncheon is scheduled in the village at 11:30 a.m. Monday. The village has invited several state and federal elected representatives to attend the meeting which will be open to the public.

Village residents interested in meeting with representatives Shultzinger and the FHA are welcome to purchase lunch and attend. Cost is $3 per person, and reservations must be made by Friday.

Those desiring reservations should call 437-7403 or 437-7623. The luncheon will be held in the Presbyterian Church in Bloomingburg.

Due to a gas leak in the town hall, the body convened in the Paint Township Hall.

At the onset of the meeting, James Johnson took the oath for councilmen. He was appointed to fill the vacancy created by 1975 council chairman Michael Simpson whose resignation was read at the last meeting. Simpson cited a change in employment as the reason for the resignation.

Johnson, who goes by "Ed," is a retired mechanic and former employee of the Med-O-Pure Dairy Co.

In other action during the meeting, council announced it will install a street light at the corner of Academy and Lincoln streets.

Dayton school plan ripped due to midyear changes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dr. John A. Finger says his busing plan to desegregate Dayton public schools is unique in that it requires teachers to move with their pupils.

Finger, an expert in the field of school desegregation, submitted his proposals to U.S. District Court Judge Carl B. Rubin Monday. Rubin, who appointed him to come up with a plan for the 45,000-student system, has scheduled a hearing on it next Monday.

Finger's plan involves pairing largely black schools with predominantly white ones through busing. It would require transporting 12,000 students in the first half of the 1976-77 school year and a different 12,000 in the second half.

The plan is designed so that each student would spend half the year in his neighborhood, or "home" school and half the year at a paired school.

Finger said his proposal to have teachers accompany their pupils would help with the transition. It would be reassuring, he explained, for students to find familiar teachers in their new surroundings.

The child would not change classmates or teachers, he said, calling the concept "classroom pairing."

"Undoubtedly, this will be an inconvenience to teachers, but this inconvenience should be outweighed by the advantages of bringing the two paired schools together as a single unit," Finger said.

Finger emphasized that the plan is not final and may be revised, accepted or rejected by Judge Rubin.

Rubin has already ruled out a section of the plan which called for "metropolitan" busing across city and suburban boundaries. It proposed a metropolitan school district that would include districts in Montgomery and Greene counties.

The concept has drawn criticism from school board president William E. Goodwin, who has vowed he will not support the plan. "I won't go along with something which will destroy the city," he declared.

Restrictions on bingo may ease

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee says planned restrictions on charitable bingo games may be relaxed to some extent before they become law.

Chairman Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, said no action will be taken immediately, but that he would favor easing some restrictions on the game.

His comments came after bingo enthusiasts and employees jammed a committee hearing on the regulatory bill Tuesday, urging that its strict provisions be loosened.

The bingo players said their winnings would be decreased, and their enjoyment of the game would follow suit, under the bill.

Bingo workers said they would lose their jobs, while bingo game operators said they probably could not operate.

The bill, already passed by the Senate, sets up the regulatory mechanism allowed by the bingo amendment to the state constitution approved by voters last fall.

The amendment exempted charitable bingo from the general gambling prohibition in the constitution.

The bill would limit the number of bingo games that one organization could hold, limit the jackpot and forbid any paid workers.

Only volunteers, working for charitable organizations registered under a certain tax-exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service, could hold bingo games.

Dr. John Harris opened the first dental college in the nation in a small frame building at Bainbridge, Ohio, near Chillicothe, in 1827.

This 'n that

It was mistakenly stated in Tuesday's edition of the Record-Herald that Charles E. Howell, 27, of 633 E. Paint St., was involved in a March 10 fight in front of Club 22. The only fight of which Howell was found guilty occurred in front of Weegie's bar on March 12.

Candidates address Demos

Tenth District Ohio Senate candidate John Mahoney addressed a joint meeting of the Fayette County Democrat Club and Democrat Executive Committee which was held in the Terrace Lounge.

Mahoney, who is only 26, was the youngest city commissioner ever elected in the city of Springfield. In January of this year, he was elected to the position of assistant mayor by the city commissioners. He is active in a number of county and community affairs in Clark County and is a staunch advocate of strong local government.

Following the speaker's address, all local Democratic candidates were introduced and spoke briefly. They are

Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford, candidate for county commissioner in the Jan. 3 term; Lee Cruea, candidate for county treasurer; Louise Rodgers, Sixth District state committeewoman; James E. Wisecup, Sixth District State Committeeman, and other announced candidates who have not yet filed petitions.

The next meeting will be held April, and all area Democrats are welcome to attend. A specific date for the meeting will be announced later.

The Afghan hound, a native hound of Afghanistan, was first introduced to England in 1907.

Some men and women use their Guard earnings to make car payments

There are a lot of good uses for the money earned on Guard duty. Car payments are just one . . . one that is important to many of the young men and women who are joining the Ohio National Guard these days.

Today's high pay rates make the National Guard one of the top paying part-time jobs around. Guard training is also one of the best ways available to qualify for solid full-time jobs in private industry. After basic and specialty training, with good pay, it takes one weekend a month and two weeks each summer.

Men and women with prior military service qualify for part-time duty and pay immediately.

There are a lot of good uses for the money you can earn on Guard duty . . . and a lot of good spots open with local Guard units for those who want to be a part of something that counts.
